POWDER-PUFF BRIGADE. Abandoning their kitchens Tuesday to wield shovels and other implements were these housewives, determined to repair old Cemetery Hill Rd. in New Cumberland at the cost of blisters and sore muscles. Village Council and the State Road Commission have turned thumbs down on their repeated efforts to have the narrow, bumpy road improved, so the women organized to do the job themselves. Despite their determination and toil yesterday they were able to accomplish only minor repairs, as heavy equipment is needed to widen the steep road. The women suspended work today in order to catch up on their housekeeping, but plan to return Thursday morning to spread slag along the berm and places where the bricks are hoveled into humps.

Truce Eases Race Tension In Maryland

Agreement Termed Only The Start For Cambridge Issues

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP)—Many residents of Cambridge feel the tentative agreement between Negro and white leaders to end Cambridge's explosive racial struggle is just the beginning of a possible solution.

The mood of this Chesapeake Bay town torn by violence is one of relief that the pact has removed the immediate threat of more demonstrations.

The agreement was signed Tuesday in the Washington office of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy after nearly 10 hours of negotiations between Negro leaders and Maryland and Cambridge officials. The pact says it "is considered as imposing a moral obligation . . . to abide by and fully support the spirit and intention of this agreement." It is not legally binding.

"Not everything has been accomplished," Kennedy said. "It is a major step forward. It is an effort to get Cambridge back to normal."

Court To Get 10 Tax Cases

Non-Compliance Prosecution Slated

D. G. Wilkinson, city income tax commissioner, said today he expects to file charges in Municipal Court Monday against 10 individuals, alleging failure to file a final return on 1962 income or lack of an estimate on 1963 earnings.

Wilkinson said he will continue to file charges at the rate of 10 a week until he cleans up a backlog of cases of non-compliance with the tax ordinance. The charges will be filed in series of 10 in order not to overload the court's machinery, he said.

Most of the charges that will be filed Monday will allege failure to file a final return on 1962 income and pay any amount due. Wilkinson said. A few will allege failure to file an estimate on 1963 earnings and make advance payments for the first half of the year.

April 15 was the deadline for filing the final 1962 returns. The estimates on 1963 income were due by June 30, along with a payment representing half of the tax due.

Wilkinson said all the persons against whom he contemplates action Monday were sent notices about 10 days ago directing them to appear at the tax office in City Hall not later than today.

At Governors Session

Johnson Warns On 'Rights' Issue

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Admonished by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson that partisanship is no answer, the nation's governors continued a staccato political fire today in the civil rights controversy.

Johnson told the 55th annual Governor's Conference at its formal state dinner Tuesday night that public leaders could not keep their trust "by exploiting the issue for partisan ends or discouraging its resolution for personal advantage."

"American politics must not be less responsible than the electorate it serves," Johnson said. "There can be no Democratic answer or Republican answer, no White House or state house answer, no 1964 answer, but only a responsible American answer achieved by all of us, at all levels, working together all of the time for and with the people."

Only a few hours earlier, the Democrats had blitzed Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and other Republican state executives at the climax of a three-day fight to put the Democratic-dominated Governor's Conference on record as favoring strong civil rights action. Taking advantage of their 3-1 margin, the Democrats rolled over the Republicans who were threatening to steal their publicity thunder on the civil rights question.

To Assure River Access

Raised Freeway Section Proposed In 3rd St. Area

When the city hires an engineering firm to prepare plans for the next eastward extension of the Freeway, it should consider the possibility of building the four-lane road on an elevated structure in the 3rd St. area, principally as a guarantee of unlimited future access to the river-front district.

That proposal highlighted a meeting of the highway committee of the Chamber of Commerce late Tuesday afternoon in the C. of C. office.

The committee agreed that the city should consider the possibility of building a part of the next freeway stage at a raised elevation for a series of reasons:

1. Intersecting north-south streets then would not be cut off by the limited access highway.

2. Continuation of the present pattern for local traffic would assure unlimited access to the Ohio River, with its dock and storage facilities for river shipments, several industrial concerns, a grow-

A motion by Democratic Gov. John Dempsey of Connecticut to instruct the conference executive committee to give priority to civil rights in its operations in the next year won by a 38-3 vote.

Democratic Govs. George C. Wallace of Alabama, Ross Barnett of Mississippi and Donald S. Russell of South Carolina voted "no."

There was a little political sugar for everybody in this method of settling the civil rights matter. Kennedy administration Democrats got credit for authoring the motion by which the conference directed its new nine-member executive committee to cooperate with the President and various agencies in the field of improving racial relations.

Under the rule that gives the party that does not hold the chairmanship a majority on this particular committee, Democrats would outnumber Republicans 5-4 and thus control the policies to be pursued.

Republicans could claim that by the verbal pounding they gave the issue, they forced the Democrats to act. Democrats wiped out the resolutions committee and all resolutions in order to avoid a conference filibuster over civil rights.

Rockefeller contended he got the principal objective of his drive, a continuing examination of the racial situation.

Plane Crash Kills Pilot, Injures Man

Weirton Resident Hurt Critically As Craft Falls 200 Feet

WEIRTON — A probe by the Civil Aeronautics Administration was to start today in the crash of a light plane Tuesday night which claimed the life of a Pennsylvania pilot instructor and injured a local student pilot.

Killed in the crash shortly after takeoff at Weirton Airport was Stephen W. Yandrick, 49, of Atlasburg, a veteran instructor of 23 years.

Benjamin Buksa, 24, of 104 Plum St., a passenger in the yellow, 1946 model Piper Cub on a check-out flight for his civilian flying license, was hurt critically.

Witnesses said the craft was circling the field after takeoff when it suddenly plummeted from an altitude of 200 feet and crashed into trees on an embankment at the east side of the runway. Cause of the accident had not been determined today by the CAA.

Buksa, who has about 30 flying hours to his credit, suffered a possible skull fracture, fractures of both legs, a broken jaw, and multiple body injuries. He was in "critical" condition at Weirton General Hospital.

The craft struck with such force that Buksa ripped through his safety belt and was hurled forward against Mr. Yandrick in the pilot's seat of the tandem cockpit. Mr. Yandrick was hurled against the instrument panel and pinned in the wreckage.

Rescue workers toiled 45 minutes with saws, wrecking bars and other tools to extricate Mr. Yandrick. Much of the cockpit had to be cut away, although rescue crews were able to reach the student pilot immediately.

They were rushed to Weirton General Hospital, and Mr. Yandrick died shortly after arrival. The crash happened at 7:51 p.m. The craft was owned by Howard J. Niser of Unionport, Ohio. The wreckage was impounded by the Civil Air Patrol pending the CAA investigation.

The flight was the first together by Mr. Yandrick and Buksa. A veteran of World War II, Mr. Yandrick had established a reputation as a skilled aviator. He had just completed an instructional flight before adding fuel to the ill-fated single-engine plane for the flight with the Weirton youth.

Railroad Leaders Asked To Delay New Job Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Oren Harris, D-Ark., of the House Commerce Committee, asked the nation's railroads today to hold up for another 30 days the new work rules they propose to put into effect at 12:01 a.m. Tuesday.

He said Congress could not enact legislation to avert a strike by that time.

Harris asked for an answer within 24 hours.

He addressed his request to Daniel P. Loomis, president of the Association of American Railroads, as Harris' committee opened hearings on President Kennedy's plan to have the Interstate Commerce Commission consider work rules for train crewmen.

Loomis said he couldn't give a yes or no answer but that the railroads would consider the appeal.

Loomis went on to say another postponement would drain off more of "the life blood of an am-unic industry."

The railroads contend that forced employment of unnecessary workers is costing them millions of dollars a year.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, leadoff witness for the administration plan, sat puffing on his pipe as the chairman and the railroad official had their exchange.

Harris said he asked the railroads to postpone for 30 days their new, manpower trimming work rules to avert a national walkout. Rail unions have said they will strike the minute the rules are imposed.

Harris said he did not consider the request unreasonable and hoped the railroad would go along.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen drafted a resolution aimed at keeping the trains running until Congress has time to act.

And various legislators of both parties voiced appeals that the railroads hold off on new work rules which a carriers' spokesman said Tuesday would go into effect at one minute after midnight next Tuesday as planned.

The five on-train unions have said in the past they will stage a massive walkout the moment the new rules—which would eliminate thousands of jobs—are posted.

Two congressional committees worked at full throttle on President Kennedy's recommendations for settling the dispute. But there were many doubts the measure could reach the White House for Kennedy's signature in time to beat the deadline.

One hope was, however, that the railroads' announcement of their intention to go ahead with the work rules was aimed at keeping Congress hard at work on the bill and that they would

Dairy Strike Threatens In Pennsylvania

Talks Slated Today In Effort To Avert Milk Supply Halt

PITTSBURGH — The Pennsylvania Mediation Service today continued efforts to avert a strike of 3,000 drivers and plant employees of 50 Pittsburgh and western Pennsylvania dairy concerns.

The threatened strike would affect supplies of milk and dairy products in a 10-county area. No strike deadline has been set, however.

Regional Director James Rush and Conciliator Joseph Bach met today with leaders of Local 205, Milk & Ice Cream Drivers & Dairy Plant Employees. A joint meeting of the union and representatives of the Greater Pittsburgh Dairy Association may be held later today.

The union announced yesterday its membership rejected the industry's "final offer" of a 2½-cent wage boost in a vote of 1,553 to 272 Monday.

The union and management have had some 50 meetings since April in efforts to resolve issues.

Train Crash Claims 2 In New Jersey

HARRISON, N.J. (AP)—A man and woman were killed and 28 other passengers injured early today when a Port Authority Trans Hudson line train collided with a parked diesel engine east of the Harrison station.

The four-car train was approaching its last stop before Newark on a run from New York City when the collision occurred about 1 a.m.

Police said the passenger train sideswiped the diesel, tearing out the sides of three of its cars as it ran by.

The diesel, with 10 cars coupled behind, was stopped on a spur but stuck into the path of the main line, police said.

There were 38 passengers on the train. The parked diesel had a four-man crew, but police said none of them was injured.

Midland Asks Federal Aid In Flood Loss

Mayor Eli Corak today officially lifted the state of emergency declared at Midland after surveying damage from the flash flood which hit the borough Monday afternoon.

After a conference with City Engineer R. E. Steebner, application was made to the Community Facilities Administration in Philadelphia for federal aid because the budget makes no provision for the expenses from the damages in the torrential downpour which caused extensive flooding of basements of business places and municipal sewage facilities.

No word has been received today.

Police Chief Ed Steff said the estimate of $250,000 damage probably will go higher but the final amount will not be known for a day or two.

Mayor Corak said that the request for aid to the federal agency mentioned no specific amount. Corak said the bulk of the debris was cleaned up Monday night and Tuesday and that only small crews remained on the job last night, using high-pressure hoses to wash the mud from the streets.

He said the sewer system will be checked today for any possible damage to the lines.

Tony Monaco, president of Midland Volunteer Fire Co. 1, said an estimated 65 to 75 firemen

'Racism' Hit In Testimony On Rights Bill

Churchmen Score Segregation Issue Before Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three churchmen representing Protestant, Catholic and Jewish groups told Congress today that segregation is immoral and "racism is blasphemy against God."

Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, spokesman for the trio, told a House Judiciary subcommittee in prepared testimony that "we are in the midst of a social revolution. Please God it will remain a social revolution and not degenerate into civil chaos."

He urged Congress to act now to pass President Kennedy's civil rights program.

Dr. Blake, chief executive officer of the United Presbyterian Church who was arrested earlier this month in a Maryland anti-segregation demonstration, appeared with the Rev. John F. Cronin, an official of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, and Rabbi Irwin M. Blank of the Synagogue Council of America.

The subcommittee was one of three congressional groups hearing testimony today favoring the President's broad program to outlaw segregation in all major areas of public life.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, in his fourth trip to Congress in behalf of the legislation, went before the Senate Judiciary Committee where he faced a hostile audience of Southern senators.

Jury Convicts 3 Men In Bogus Money Case

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three Youngstown area men have been convicted by a Federal Court jury of charges of possessing and passing counterfeit $10 bills in Mahoning County last winter.

The three showed no emotion late Tuesday as the verdict was announced in U. S. District Court. They are Vincent P. Serman, 37, a Youngstown lawyer, Lenine Strollo, 31, of Campbell and Nick Zappia, 48, of Youngstown.

James J. Carroll of Cleveland, attorney for Serman and Strollo, said the case would be appealed.

Final Work Pushed For Agreement

Phone Call Brings Change In Attitude Among Diplomats

MOSCOW (AP) — A telephone call from the Soviet Foreign Office sent experts of the United States, Britain and the Soviet union into a hard working session this morning trying to complete the agreement for a partial ban on nuclear weapon tests.

Western diplomats were still hopeful the agreement could be signed today, but they cautioned newsmen there could be a slip.

It could not be learned what last minute problem the Russians had raised. But the treaty draft was reported not yet complete for signing.

An air of happy triumph among the Western delegations Tuesday was modified this morning. But confidence continued that a test ban treaty would be concluded.

U.S. sources in Washington said it appeared Soviet Premier Khrushchev would not insist that a nonaggression pact unacceptable to the West accompany the test-ban treaty.

It had been feared Khrushchev might demand a package deal but U.S. diplomats now expect the nonaggression pact proposal to be deferred.

Caution still prevailed, however.

Chief American negotiator W. Averell Harriman, a veteran of negotiations with Stalin as well as with Khrushchev, stressed to newsmen that treaties are finished only when they are signed.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk told newsmen in Washington: "We think there is a possibility we can get an agreement." Negotiations will continue for a day or two, he said.

Rusk also brushed aside reports that he might go to Moscow, perhaps with a congressional delegation, to rally Senate support for the test-ban agreement. The Senate must approve the treaty by

Treaty Faces Close Study In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—An uncertain reception in the Senate awaits a nuclear test-ban treaty which U.S. sources say is all but completed in Moscow.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and disarmament agency director William C. Foster sought to blaze a path for the treaty Tuesday by showing a draft of the proposed agreement to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Afterward committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said it was possible the Senate would approve it this session but declined to go so far as to predict that would happen.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois would predict only that the treaty would set off lively debate. He said he would not know until he had seen all of the provisions whether he would oppose it or not.

Informed sources said American, British, and Soviet negotiators had virtually completed their work on the test-ban pact and were preparing to issue a final communique soon, perhaps later today.

Signing of the treaty would send it to the Senate, which must ratify it by a two-thirds vote before it becomes binding upon the United States.

After the briefing by Rusk and

Workers Vote Return To Jobs At Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — To help speed their grievances, union members involved in an unauthorized strike at the Republic Steel Corp. strip mill in Cuyahoga Heights have voted to return to their jobs.

Paul E. Schremp, district director of the United Steel Workers Union, said Tuesday a dispute over safety conditions would be worked out as soon as all men are back at work. Picketing began last week by members of UAW Local 2265.

Schremp said the No. 1 problem to settle is that of six workers who were previously discharged because of their picketing in the wildcat walkout.

Lawyer Asks Palestine Job

Atty. James R. Allison, 750 W. North Ave., East Palestine announced today he will be a candidate for the East Palestine Board of Education at the November general election.

Two vacancies are expected on the board with the announcement today by Roy S. Blackburn and James Akenhead Jr. They will not seek re-election.

Atty. Allison, a partner in the Coen & Allison law firm, has been engaged in practice since 1957. He moved to East Palestine from Salineville.

He is secretary - treasurer of the Columbiana County Bar Association.

Blackburn, board president several years, is completing his eighth year on the board and Akenhead is in his sixth year.

Meanwhile, two more candidates filed today with the County Election Board, raising to 38 the number entered for non-partisan ballot spots for posts in villages, townships and school districts.

Norman L. Huffman, 1070 Bacon Ave., East Palestine, entered for Unity Township trustee. James Ewing of Lisbon R.D. 1 filed for re-election as Wayne Township Clerk.

A seven-tenths mill levy filed Tuesday from St. Clair Township is to provide funds for police protection, not fire protection.

Aug. 7 is the filing deadline for non-partisan candidates.

Lausche Pushes REA Loan Boost

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to force the Rural Electrification Administration to increase the interest rate on its loans was offered today by Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio.

"Some of its operations seem ludicrous," Lausche said, mentioning "the financing of a ski lodge, with lift and artificial snow, in Illinois."

The bill, co-sponsored by Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R - Utah, would require the REA generally to finance its future operations in the open market at the prevailing rate of interest.

The measure would require that loans made by the REA bear interest at a rate equal to the average rate of interest the government has to pay on the money it borrows.

Cooperatives presently pay 2 per cent interest on money they borrow from the REA, established in 1936 to encourage electrification of farms.

But, Lausche asserted the purpose for which the REA was created has largely been fulfilled.

City Receives New Pumper; Exhibit Slated

City officials are making arrangements for public display of the city's new $28,915 1,000-gallon pumper truck, which was delivered to the fire department late Tuesday afternoon by the Seagraves Corp. of Columbus.

The truck arrived at Central Station about 5:15, driven here by a factory representative.

It was ordered Dec. 12 by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet and Safety Service Director Robert Owen, acting on a series of bids received from five concerns on Nov. 26. The new truck will replace a 32-year-old pumper at Central, also built by Seagraves.

Built to the city's specifications, the truck is powered with a six-cylinder 300-horsepower motor. It is capable of hurling 1,000 gallons of water a minute.

The mayor and director let the contract after studying offers that ranged upward to $35,333.

Council authorized a $30,000 bond issue on Oct. 15 to finance the purchase. However, only enough bonds will be issued to cover the actual cost.

The director said some of the auxiliary equipment still must be purchased for the new truck, particularly 1,000 feet of hose that costs approximately $3 a foot.

He and Asst. Chief Alfred VanDyne visited the Seagraves factory in late May to check on progress of the construction of the pumper. At that time, the company confirmed the July delivery date.

Owen said he expects to make arrangements for public display of the pumper on the Diamond. But first the firemen will receive instruction and training on the new truck from the field engineer who delivered it, he said.

The truck is in the garage at Central. An enclosed cab-over-engine type, it is finished in vivid red with gray trim.

Communist Chiefs Air Economic Difficulties

MOSCOW (AP)—Chiefs of the Soviet block countries gathered in the Kremlin today for another attempt at synchronizing their strained economies.

Leaders from Poland, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Mongolia were in Moscow for the meeting of the Council for Mutual Economic Assistance.

Communist sources said the talks with Premier Khrushchev probably would continue until the weekend.

In addition to trying to synchronize their economic programs, the leaders also were expected to review the widening breach between the Soviet Union and Red China and the fruitless talks between them which ended last weekend.

How The Law Reads Out West In Kansas

TOPEKA, Kan. — Just to keep the record straight it's against the law to eat snakes, lizards, scorpions, centipedes, tarantulas or other reptiles in public in Kansas.

In fact, a law forbids you to even pretend to eat such items publicly.

Another old law requires every theater, public hall or building in the state to provide sufficient spittoons or cuspidors. The same applies to railway cars.

And in Topeka, a city ordinance prohibits citizens from running an opium den — or frequenting one.

GOP Advisor Group Meets

LISBON — The Columbiana County Republican Advisory Council met Monday noon at the Wick Hotel with County Chairman Charles Pike presiding for business following lunch. Twenty-five attended.

Miss Gladys DeBolt of East Liverpool, county chairwoman, reported she installed officers of the newly formed Salineville Republican Club Friday evening, including Allen Allmon, president; Kenneth Leishman, vice president; Mrs. Sarah Ahlborn, secretary-treasurer; Don Lewis, publicity chairman, and Hilda Hart, recording secretary. The club has 76 members and the next meeting is Aug. 16 at the Salineville High School cafeteria.

All area Republicans are invited to a coverdish family picnic Thursday at Firestone Park pavilion 4 at 6:15 p.m., sponsored by the Columbiana Republican Club.

Edward Heim of Lisbon, president, reported on his club's membership drive.

Next council meeting is Aug. 12 at noon at the hotel.

Meanwhile, Atty. Pike announced that the Columbiana County Republican Central and Executive Committees have established a headquarters at 133 E. Lincoln Way during the Morgan's Raid Centennial today through Saturday.

The headquarters will be open each day from noon to 9 p.m. and any person may visit or rest, Pike said.

Freeway

next logical step was to begin planning for extension of the four-lane highway to the east. Eventually, it will stretch to the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line.

The next eastward stage is expected to commence at 3rd and Monroe Sts. and run to State St., East End. The length of the project might be shortened, depending upon availability of state, federal and local funds at the time.

In other business, the committee received a report from Atty. Francis H. Lang, chairman, on the progress on construction of the second northwesterly stage of the Freeway, extending from the city limits to an interchange at Route 170 in the Substation area.

Atty. Lang said the contractor, Great Lakes Construction Co. of Cleveland, still is well ahead of schedule and expects to complete the job late this fall.

Atty. Lang also reported that some unexpected factors apparently have delayed preparation of plans for the next northern stage of the Freeway, which will commence at Route 170 and extend to another interchange in the area of the present junction of Routes 7 and 30.

Although the Highway Department originally anticipated the plans would be completed by mid-summer, indications are now that the work may not be finished until late this year, he said.

There also was a general discussion of the proposed St. Clair Ave. project, which calls for construction of a new three-lane highway of reinforced concrete and a storm sewer system from Princeton Ave. to the north city limits.

Devoted To Children

RULEVILLE, Miss. (AP) — A mailman who refused to disappoint children has retired after 39 years. O. E. Ward often left a stick of candy or chewing gum in the mail box for the little ones when there was no letter to take home. And when a Santa Claus package didn't arrive on time, Ward would check the post office on Christmas morning. If he found the package, he would deliver it on his holiday time.

Girl Charges Police Threat In Vice Trial

LONDON (AP)—A prosecution witness in the vice trial of Dr. Stephen Ward testified today police threatened to take her young sister and her baby from her unless she provided evidence against Ward.

Margaret Ricardo, 22, an admitted prostitute, repeated her assertion—first made at the close of Tuesday's session—that she lied on the stand at Ward's preliminary hearing and in a statement to the police because of police pressure.

Under questioning from prosecutor Mervyn Griffith-Jones she admitted that she voluntarily gave an additional true statement to the police on April 10 about her sister, Dorothy Richardson, 13, another girl named Diane and Ward.

The substance of this statement—which Miss Ricardo insisted was true—was not immediately disclosed.

Griffith-Jones asked her why, if the police previously had forced her into signing false statements, she had volunteered fresh information on April 10.

"I did not want my sister to go to a remand home," Miss Ricardo replied. Remand homes are places where underage defendants in criminal or delinquency cases are kept.

Miss Ricardo again disavowed her statement to the police and at the preliminary hearing that she used Ward's apartment on three occasions for sexual relations with men who paid her.

Douglas Fairbanks Jr. denied the testimony Tuesday by call girl Marilyn (Mandy) Rice-Davies that he had had relations with her.

The baby-faced little 18-year-old admitted to the packed courtroom she brought the name of the former actor and television producer into the case "because I didn't like him."

She had testified that Fairbanks was one of several men she had sexual relations with during three months in 1961 when she shared an apartment with Christine Keeler, leading lady in the Profumo scandal who the prosecution charges was a co-star with Mandy in a call girl stable operated by Ward. Mandy said Fairbanks didn't pay her.

Fairbanks, now 33, a resident of London since the war and a friend of Britain's royal family, issued his denial through a spokesman in New York. British law bars him from commenting on the case in London while it is still in the courts.

Wellsville Firemen List Over 75 Units For Parade

Between 75 and 85 units will be competing for prizes totaling $500 in the annual homecoming parade of the Wellsville volunteer firemen Friday night at 7.

The parade highlights the week's activities. A carnival is being operated nightly at the Public Square at 4th St.

Some 50 to 60 definite reservations have been returned to date, the firemen said. This includes 15 marching units, with at least four or five more due to reply.

The Wellsville High School Band will lead the parade. The route has been changed this year, as the carnival is being held at 4th St. instead of at the 14th St. park.

The units will form on Center St. and move out 15th to Main, going up Main to the square.

The judges' stand for fire equipment will be at 5th St. while the musical and marching units will be judged from a stand on 4th St.

Firemen commented this will keep the parade moving. Units scheduled to perform will do so in front of the stand and allow the others to move on.

Judges for equipment will be Fire Chief Charles Bryan of East Liverpool, Chief Vincinet D'Itri of Midland and Chief Frank Frederick of East Palestine.

Judges for marching units will be Ted Koenig, former Wellsville band director, Homer Lewis and Paul Katz.

All senior musical units will compete for first prize of $50 and second prize of $25. The best junior band and best junior drum and bugle corps will compete for $35 first prize and $20 second.

Other marching units such as children's groups, auxiliaries and military teams will be seeking prizes ranging from $25 to $10. Equipment prizes, including pumps, aerial ladder trucks, comic units and old autos, will range from $15 to $10.

Any musical unit not winning a prize will be guaranteed $10.

Firemen pointed out the parade will move promptly at 7 at the

Too Much Parking

MAYFIELD, Ky. — Most towns search for more parking space, but the trend was reversed in Mayfield. Graves County Fiscal Court voted to plow up a 35-car asphalt lot in the courthouse yard and sod it as part of the lawn. Judge Allen Clear said removal of the lot would add beauty to the downtown area as well as eliminate a traffic and fire hazard.

France Reports Dip In Tourist Business

PARIS — The latest figures on foreign visitors to France indicate "a certain stagnation" in the tourist business, according to a report of the committee on tourism of the National Assembly.

The number of visitors increased only 3.3 per cent from 1960 to 1961, the report said, and preliminary figures showed a similar low growth rate from 1961 to 1962.

In addition, the report said, foreigners are tending to stay shorter periods in France, an average of about 2.5 days.

Don't Shoot Till You See . . .

Ohio Sen. Robert Stockdale, R-Kent, was pointing out to an audience in Portage County a few days ago that 75 cents of every dollar paid for taxes in Ohio goes to Washington, 6 cents to Columbus and the rest stays home.

Of the amount that stays home, upward of 80 per cent goes for public education, which also gets about 52 per cent of Ohio's general fund (revenue not earmarked for specific purposes.)

These proportions point up some observations not commonly made about money paid for taxes.

FIRST, the local spenders usually blamed for piddling away the people's money don't get their hands on enough of it to have much effect, unless schools are going to be accused of the same things political spenders are accused of.

Second, the 75 cents of every dollar diverted to Washington can be piddled away all over the earth with no one the wiser—and it is.

The federal government can waste a billion in the pursuit of some will-o-the-wisp scheme that would never be mentioned in local or state government, and no one would squawk, let alone think of stopping the expenditure.

Ohio must scrape the money barrel for enough funds to pay its share of the cost of the interstate highway system, which is paid for with money collected from wealthy states, including Ohio.

Ohioans can scratch gravel in an endless search for funds to keep state institutions in decent working order while the federal government blithely builds vast complexes of buildings and staffs them with the highest-paid people federal money can buy.

WHILE a locality squeezes pennies to patch holes in streets a generation old and the state robs Peter to pay Paul for enough highway construction to keep Ohio motorists from dead-ending in cornfields, the federal government underwrites four-lane highways in parts of the country where there are more jackrabbits than motorists.

The federal government can play fast and loose with a budget of nearly $100 billion and explain why it can't cut a penny while state and local government squabble over thousands and cut budgets to the bone.

We shouldn't shoot until we see the whites of the spenders' eyes — and if we followed this rule, Washington would be littered with casualties.

Cleaning Up

After the storm comes the cleanup. Near-by Midland — which had the misfortune to be directly in the path of a torrential rain Monday — is going through the cleanup stage today.

Flooding of basements, streets and other areas resulted from the downpour and much work remains to be done until things return to normal. Fortunately, among misfortune, there are always those ready to rise to the occasion.

All borough employees met the emergency head-on and labored long to restore order out of confusion during the storm. They deserve a pat on the back.

Neighborhoods also was demonstrated again as nearby fire companies and other units responded to the call and gave Midland a helping hand.

While the storm was regrettable, it had its silver lining in the cooperative manner in which all tackled the emergency. It's a lesson which could be carried over advantageously into other situations which demand a cooperative approach.

Political Prevue Of 1964

The wide-open split on the civil rights issue in the Governors' Conference at Miami will be bridged over after the governors have made their commitments for the record.

It is not going to be allowed to wreck the conference.

No one expects anti-Negro governors from the Deep South ever will come to a meeting of minds with governors from states whose Negro citizens have full civil rights, meaning chiefly the right to vote.

But a year from now these same anti-Negro governors and their political pals will show up at the Democratic national convention—and that will be more serious.

THE DEMOCRATIC party will have to conceal the rift in its ranks between the views of Southern irreconcilables and the views of Northern and Western vote-getters.

In past performances, the trick has been to make the party one thing in the North and another in the South. It never could have been performed without the cooperation of the people it was intended to fool.

These were American Negroes.

The Democratic party in the North could not carry big cities like New York, Philadelphia, Detroit and Chicago without Negro voting support.

Negroes know this. Yet they continue to give the Democratic party their votes without reference to the party's anti-Negro position in Southern states.

What it amounts to is that Northern

Negroes are refusing to use their bargaining power in the Democratic party to help Southern Negroes win their struggle for civil rights.

SOUTHERN Democrats dominate Congress. The party cannot win without them and they dictate its practices, even if they must let Northern Democrats write the party platform on civil rights.

This would be impossible if Negroes voted in states that withhold this civil right; that's why they withhold it.

The issue will be hot next year when the Democrats hold their national convention.

They will be gambling on their ability to fool Negro voters once more—to go through the motions of supporting their fight for civil rights while simultaneously withholding their civil rights in Southern states dominated by a party that would be swept out of power without the support of Negro voters in the North.

Pioneer Spirit

Our hats are off to the Pughtown Boy Scouts who journeyed by raft down the Ohio River despite the most trying conditions.

While they had advantages which the original settlers of the valley didn't, the youths have displayed a pioneering spirit that meets the test.

The Scouts can be proud of the part they have played in helping to commemorate West Virginia's Centennial.

Things May Pick Up Later

Prizefighting has had so many bad times it would be hard to put a finger on the record and say that right here was the worst time of all.

But certainly right here is not one of the best times of all.

We are not referring to the prizefighters in sight at the moment, including the one whose appearances in two title matches for the heavyweight championship have been significantly brief.

We are not referring to the other one, who has flattened him like a proverbial master with a pole ax in a slaughterhouse.

One is highly esteemed by those who know him best, and the other is said to be trying to rise to his responsibility as a public figure. Best of luck to both.

We are referring to what is being pointed out in many parts of the country as a state of public apathy about who beats whom and where and for how much money and under what circumstances.

These details once seemed important. People talked about them and paid close attention to them. No one cares much one way or the other now. In show biz, which is what prizefighting is, that's bad. Criticism is to be expected. Indifference shouldn't happen to a dog.

Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: Why don't you think of the difference between mechanization and automation like this? —

That mechanization expanded the productive things a human being could do and made him more efficient, but automation only expanded the things a machine could do.

As men became more productive, the standard of living rose by leaps and bounds because there is no point of satiety among men. Their needs are limitless. The more they had, the more they wanted.

Machines have no needs. They want nothing.

The thing that caused mechanization to stimulate the world's highest standard of living is absent in automation. What is the "thing"?

It was old Henry Ford's realization at the outset of the mass production which mechanization made possible that mass production would be a mockery if people couldn't buy it.

The real genius of the man who showed the world how to mass-produce came to light when he showed it how to mass-consume by paying his employees $5 a day at a time when men were working for not much more than $5 a week.

YOU CAN'T pay a machine. That's what makes it efficient. When you shut it off, after you have amortized it for tax purposes, it sits there. It eats nothing, wears nothing and needs no diversion.

It is utterly efficient, in the sense it makes money when it works and costs nothing when it isn't working. That's what some people thought the machine would do when it made mass production possible. They started out with the idea in English factories and in this country that machine operators should be paid as little as possible; that is, until Henry Ford introduced the $5 wage.

You might say of our production system today that we are going to make it more efficient if it kills us. We are getting ready for one of those situations people laugh about where the operation was a success, but the patient died.

I wish someone would take time to point out that Henry Ford's idea was to give buying power to more people by making men more efficient, whereas what we're doing is to make machines more efficient so we won't need so many pesky people hanging around all the time.

COTTON CORNERS UNCLE GEORGE

Reluctant Pandora

Plan To End Unemployment Offered

In addition to serving the Kennedy administration as secretary of commerce, Luther H. Hodges is also chairman of the President's Labor-Management Advisory Committee. At Victor Riesel's request, he gives his solution to the unemployment problem.

By LUTHER H. HODGES
Secretary of Commerce of the United States

Unemployment is an urgent social and economic problem in the United States today, and it should be just as much a concern of business as of labor.

Despite our relative national prosperity and our record total of 68 million workers productively employed, there still is much human privation, frustration and even despair reflected in an unemployment rate that has persisted at 5 per cent or more for the last five years.

This human cost of unemployment cannot be permitted to continue indefinitely in the richest country in the world. Together, business, labor and government must do whatever is necessary to provide gainful employment to every pair of willing hands in America.

Business, particularly, cannot ignore either the human costs or the very substantial business costs of a high rate of unemployment.

BUSINESSMEN LOSE profits every day because millions of unemployed workers and their families cannot buy the things they need and want.

They lose sales for their products and services and their profit margins are squeezed by the high overhead costs of idle productive capacity.

Business profits are further narrowed by the hundreds of millions of dollars which must be paid in taxes to provide unemployment benefits and welfare programs for the families of jobless workers who are willing and eager to work.

A recent survey in Massachusetts illustrates one of the dollar and cents costs of unemployment. At the same time it emphasizes the possibilities of dealing with part of our unemployment problem through worker retraining.

In this study, the Federal Reserve Board of Boston and the Massachusetts Division of Employment Security surveyed 204 people who took part in a retraining program and compared the results with another group without retraining.

THE STUDY showed that the state paid out $31,000 in unemployment benefits in 1962 to the group without retraining. But among those retrained, only $8,000 was paid out.

This indicates a saving of $23,000 as a result of the retraining program to give jobless workers new skills. Since the retraining program cost $121,000, the savings it provided would enable the state to pay off the investment in five years. And during those five years and thereafter these retrained workers would be paying taxes out of the income earned with their new skills.

Individual businessmen, by launching programs of their own or intensifying their present retraining programs, can help us attack both the human costs and the monetary costs arising from unemployment.

As a general rule, worker retraining can be accomplished more effectively by industry than by government. But state and local governments have an important role to play in this area, and the federal government is helping under the Manpower Development and Training Program and the retraining efforts of the Area Redevelopment Program.

THE FEDERAL government can be of greatest help in dealing with the unemployment problem by enacting the President's program of income tax reduction. By increasing the purchasing power of consumers and strengthening investment incentives, tax reduction will create many new job opportunities for our expanding labor force.

A combination of tax cuts to stimulate consumer demand and investment incentives and effective worker retraining programs can move us a long way to abolishing unemployment as a significant problem in America.

What will you do about it?

Convenient Morals

By David Lawrence

What About 'Peter' And 'Paul'?

In these days when spokesmen for the administration are piously stressing "reminders of conscience" and "moral issues" in the "equal rights" crusade, it may be wondered why those symbols of national behavior do not seem to apply also to the fiscal policy of the government.

David Lawrence

It might be assumed that it's all right to spend the total revenues taken from the citizens during the year and then to borrow still more and spend it, thus increasing an already record-breaking debt. If the citizen were to conduct his affairs by that code, could he, too, plead that just a few years ago somebody else spend as much, if not more, and never paid off a dollar of debt? In the parlance of the day, it has become a fad to denounce anyone who wants to balance the budget as some kind of reactionary or right winger. If the argument is offered that a conservative is a fellow who wants to conserve his savings and his property, the retort usually is that this is the obsolete and unsophisticated doctrine of a past generation.

If fears are expressed, moreover, about the future value of the dollar — that it may buy less when it is taken out of the savings banks than when it was put in there, the answer given is that the national welfare demands such confiscation.

IN THE FACE of such euphemistic arguments, it's in the public interest to call attention to some salient facts which President Kennedy failed to make clear in his recent summary of the nation's finances for the fiscal year which ended June 30.

The President said that last January his budget experts estimated that the fiscal year 1963 would show a deficit of $8.8 billion, but he added that it now is only $6.2 billion. This drop of $2.6 billion is supposed to bring sighs of relief, since it is pointed out that $1.7 billion of this decrease has been made possible by a cut in federal spending and that $900 million more than expected came in from tax receipts, sales of assets and other payments to the government since the January estimate was made.

Now $900 million isn't the only increase in revenues. For, actually, the total receipts of the government in the fiscal year 1963 went up $5 billion above the 1962 figure. Of this sum $3 billion was contributed by tax money. But all of this was eaten up in government spending just the same and the budget was still left unbalanced with a deficit of $6.3 billion.

HOW CAN any institution remain in good health, fiscally speaking, if it uses up all of its increased receipts each year to pay current expenses and incurs also even a bigger deficit which requires the borrowing of still more money?

Any thought of reducing the public debt, moreover, seems to have been abandoned altogether.

Yet this dilemma, which has gone unresolved for many years, doesn't appear to bother most of the politicians in Washington. They point out that it must be all right because in the peacetime years since World War II there has been a deficit every year with few exceptions and there is still enough unborrowed billions to send a man to the moon.

But the important fact to bear in mind is that fiscal unsoundness doesn't always reach its climax overnight and that, when the climax does come, it is too late to restore confidence.

The President, after surveying his own figures — showing that the current deficit isn't as bad as last January's estimate — finds comfort in a budget of $92.6 billion because it isn't as high as the $94.3 billion estimated last January.

Yet the federal budget was $87.8 billion just 12 months ago—in the fiscal year 1962.

WHY COULDN'T the United States government have gotten along in 1963 with that big budget of $87.8 billion? How can a reduction in tax rates now be considered sound finance? Even if business is stimulated and tax receipts should grow in volume next year, why should the government's expenses go up just the same?

These are the simple questions that are left unanswered today in the moral atmosphere of the national capital where the preachers of "equal rights" and "equal protection of the law" show no signs of becoming conscience-stricken over the age-old principle that it's wrong "to rob Peter to pay Paul."

Moving Day

Moving day is approaching on Nauru, whose 2,800 people must soon leave their lonely Pacific island near the Equator for a new home off the Australian coast.

Behind them, Nauruans will leave an impoverished, pocket-marked, palm-fringed little speck, once called the richest island in the South Seas. The wealth came from Nauru's phosphate deposits which have helped fertilize millions of farm acres in Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand.

Intensive mining almost has exhausted the phosphate, the National Geographic Society says. Nauruans, who flourished under the mining boom, will not be able to make a living once the mineral is gone. They have been thinking of migrating for a decade.

When talk of a move began, the Australian government offered to bring the Nauruans from their isle west of the Gilberts across Melanesia to the Australian mainland. But Nauruans, proud of their culture, language and traditions, feared they would lose their identity on a vast continent and sought, instead, another island of their own.

The Nauruans specified that the new island must meet certain requirements: pleasant climate, fertile soil and sheltered fishing waters with a deep-sea fishing port.

Several islands were rejected before the Nauruans decided on Curtis, just off the coast of Queensland between the Fitzroy River and the port city of Gladstone.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Although stationed on the island of Okinawa in the Far East, and receiving my East Liverpool Review almost a month late, I'm becoming ever more aware of the important role this fine newspaper has led and is continuing to lead in the mature development of the district's broadminded views toward the many pressing problems daily facing our community, nation and world.

In dealing with the current racial situation, you have repeatedly shown wisdom in your publication and to my limited knowledge avoided offending any element of our area's population. You have been able to accomplish this not by means of a patriotic campaign nor by preaching from the editorial page, but by merely stating the facts and giving the public an opportunity through your newspaper to form and voice its own opinions.

Surely, in today's perilous times many flags need to be waved and, yes, many sermons need to be preached. However, it would seem that the primary task of the mighty machinery of the press should be to present the true news to the people in order that they in turn may form intelligent opinions and make the proper decisions before embarking on a course of action necessary to correct any ill-doings at hand.

If all the churches, schools, civic clubs and businesses in their own way would remind the general public as you continue to do in your editorials of the mere fact that all humans wish to be treated as humans and that one's ability or inability to function intelligently as a decent, hard-working, morally-minded citizen stems not from race or color, then seeds of understanding would be sown and decency and fair play reaped by all.

To the Negroes who have waited so long for the first-class freedom which is destined to prevail, I make the following plea: Although our old have fought, our young are fighting and our babies will fight, as in Birmingham, for our rights, the forming of an even more united effort is desperately needed. For in our great race, our aged hold the wisdom, our youth hold the education and our infants hold the promise. With our combined wisdom and intellect, the Negro's promise of liberty and justice for all will finally be fulfilled. We've always kept faith in this promise because we know it's supported by the Constitution and nailed fast to our hearts by our concepts of Christianity.

May we all throw our support behind the non-violent peaceful movements of the NAACP and let us be reminded of the "power of the polls" and seek to educate all Negroes in political science ranging from "grass roots" on up.

This can effectively be done through political clubs such as the Progressive Democratic Club in Wellsville which I am associated with. The aim of our club is to progressively aid in bringing full opportunities for betterment to all citizens, regardless of race, religion or place of birth, through the field of politics, particularly the Democratic party, the party of our choice. All that our club needs is a Republican counterpart. Surely there are Republicans willing to work for the same result as we are.

In closing, may I say this country has always been worth fighting and dying for. So for the sake of those loved ones who have died, those who are dying and those who may die for our blessed America, let's keep the things we hold sacred sacred. We all hold freedom sacred. And this God-given freedom was meant for all men and our Constitution and courts guarantee it for all Americans.

So, Review, while others may attempt to hide it, and some may even deny it, may you continue to publish this guarantee and to encourage all people of our dear district to openly appreciate and respect its validity.

James Dale Click, 27 Riverside Park, drew a suspended 10-day term in the County Jail on a charge of driving without a license and was fined $25 and costs on a charge of driving at a speed that was excessive for road conditions.

He was cited by the State Highway Patrol early July 15 after his auto crossed the "super-road" and crashed into a ditch, injuring the driver. Click told the court he is a hair stylist.

Judge Chertoff suspended the County Jail term on condition that Click appears in court again within 10 days and produces a temporary instruction permit. Questioned by the judge, Click said he never had obtained a learner's permit and never had taken a driver's exam.

"The fact you don't know how to drive probably contributed to this accident," the judge said. "If you drive, you must have an operator's license. Next time, the court may not be so lenient."

Two other motorists were ordered to pay the costs as an aftermath of traffic citations.

George H. Wooten, 128 E. 2nd St., was cited Friday at 8:30 p.m. on W. 6th St. by Patrolmen Leonard Richard and Karl Sample on a charge of improper registration on a motorcycle. He appeared before the judge this morning and displayed a new plate he has obtained.

Larry M. Rush of 6th St., Newell, was cited July 6 at 4:37 p.m. by Patrolman Paul Blevins on a charge of operating an auto with an expired driver's license. He produced a new permit this morning.

Mueller Named Chief Of U.S. Moon Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. George E. Mueller, a specialist in space communications, has been named to take charge of the United States' effort to put a man on the moon.

Mueller's appointment as head of the manned space program was announced Tuesday. He takes over the $21,000-a-year post Sept. 1.

Mueller, currently vice president for research and development at Space Technology Laboratories in Los Angeles, will supervise Marshall Center at Houston and the Launch Operations Center at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The space agency said Mueller, 45, will take over the duties of D. Brainerd Holmes, who resigned recently as director of the Office of Manned Space Flight.

Man Wrecks Fence, But Leaves His Car

MORGANFIELD, Ky. (AP) — Tom Stevenson lost 48 feet of fence around his farm, but received a 1954 auto in exchange.

The fence was wrecked when Sam Oliver's car skidded around a curve, splintered the fence, then stopped in a ditch.

Oliver climbed out and handed the keys to Stevenson, explaining, "I'm too old to drive any way."

The 76-year-old former motorist then hitched a ride into town with a state trooper.

Negroes Ask Full Equality

CHARLESTON, S.D. (AP) — Sixty-two Charleston merchants say they will implement desegregation in their stores. But Negro leaders say they will settle for nothing short of complete integration in the city and warn of intensified demonstrations.

The 62 retailers were among 100 merchants who met with Mayor J. Palmer Gaillard and signed a statement promising equal employment opportunities and employee benefits, desegregation of drinking fountains and rest rooms, allowing Negroes to try on clothes, and other measures.

Hours later, Negro leaders announced demonstrations would be intensified. Negroes have been demonstrating here more than six weeks.

James Blake, a member of the board of directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored people, told a mass meeting of 1,000 Negroes:

"We will not cease our marching until we can swim in the Burges (city) pool, until we can go to the Gloria theater, until all job opportunities are open, until all doors are open."

The Rev. B. J. Glover, a member of the steering committee of the Charleston Movement, announced plans for the stepped-up demonstrations after the meeting.

Glover said the merchants "appear to be acting in good faith," but he objected to the fact that names of those approving the concessions were not divulged.

gether. It is not a victory or defeat for anybody."

Negroes have agreed to halt demonstrations indefinitely because "further progress can best be obtained in an atmosphere of calm and serenity."

The agreement points out that racial progress in this city of 12,600 has been made and there are prospects for more tangible accomplishments.

It lists appointment of a bi-racial committee, hiring of a Negro interviewer at the State Department of Employment Security's Cambridge office, complete school desegregation by September and a low-rent public housing project.

Also listed was the equal accommodations amendment to the town charter, approved by the Town Council July 1. If the amendment is not petitioned to referendum, it will go into effect Aug. 20, opening restaurants, motels and hotels to Negroes. Town officials said they would support the amendment should it be petitioned to the ballot.

Treaty

Foster, Fulbright made these points to newsmen:

1. No committee member opposed the limited test ban during the closed session, but no member had committed himself to support the treaty, nor had Rusk requested this.

2. The test ban "is not yet final." U.S. negotiator W. Averell Harriman has yet to initial it—certifying what the negotiators agreed to—and then it must be brought to Washington for governmental consideration before formal signing.

3. After Harriman initials the agreement, the committee expects to have an opportunity to study it for some days before the signing.

4. Then — if the consultations with the senators and among interested Washington federal agencies favor the draft — arrangements will be completed for a formal signing.

Pact

at least a two-thirds majority if it is to bind the United States.

Western diplomats in Moscow still feared Khrushchev might bring up something that would delay conclusion of the test agreement.

Last week he filled the negotiational air with supplementary demands for a nonaggression pact between the North Atlantic Alliance and the Communist Warsaw Pact group, for a freeze on military spending, and for a system of inspection teams at airports, railway terminals, ports and highway junctions on both sides of the Iron Curtain to guard against preparations for surprise attack.

U.S. sources believed the Russians were willing to defer all these proposals, perhaps to a summit meeting. But they were not sure.

The test-ban treaty reportedly follows the lines proposed by the United States and Britain last August at the Geneva disarmament conference. Khrushchev opposed it then, saying it would tend to legalize underground tests.

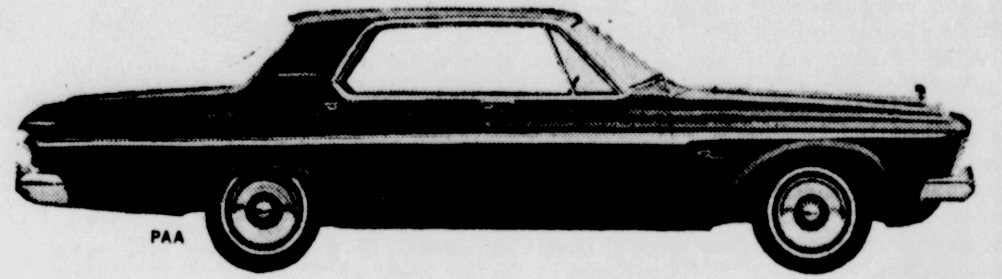

The treaty would bar all but underground nuclear tests, thus removing the major sources of radioactive fallout. Underground tests were left out to avoid the impasse over on-site inspection.

Parties to the treaty also would agree to discourage the spread of nuclear weapons to other countries.

Officials End Forgery Bid For Palermo

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Mahoning County authorities cite lack of evidence for ending their efforts to return Frank Palermo Jr. of Philadelphia to Youngstown to face forgery and arson charges stemming from a $500,000 fire in February.

Clyde W. Osborne, county prosecutor, said Tuesday he notified Philadelphia police of his decision involving the forgery charge.

Detective Chief John Terlesky said earlier attempts to return Palermo on an arson charge failed for the same reason. He indicated, however, that the warrants will be held here in case Palermo returns to Ohio.

The forgery charge resulted from Palermo's attempt to cash a check on a visit to Youngstown last January. Osborne explained that an attempt to cash a check is not a violation of state banking laws.

Palermo then was visiting a friend, Donald Johnson, authorities said. Johnson and Thomas J. Boswell, formerly of nearby Campbell, were charged here in May with armed robbery and burglary of the Youngstown Club the night of the fire.

Boswell was convicted last week in Cleveland of two armed robberies and sentenced to 2-50 years in prison.

Terlesky said the arson charge resulted after Johnson said Palermo was in the city at the time of the fire. On the strength of this claim, Terlesky said, the FBI issued a fugitive warrant.

Palermo subsequently was arrested in Erie, Pa., and taken before a U.S. commissioner. The commissioner dismissed the fugitive warrant for lack of evidence.

Prices Boosted By Rubber Firms

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Two more Akron rubber firms announced today they are raising their tire prices.

Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.'s price changes affect its passenger car, farm and truck tires. Increases, effective Aug. 1, range from 2½ to 5 per cent on most lines of passenger tires and 2½ to 3½ per cent on other tires.

B. F. Goodrich Aerospace and Defense Products Division will increase the price of consumer aircraft tires 3½ per cent, effective after Friday.

Other Akron rubber firms previously announced price boosts on passenger car, truck and industrial tires and tubes.

Tire makers had asserted in recent weeks that higher prices are needed to help offset rising costs.

'No Sale' Marked Up As Deputy Steps In

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—A man trying to sell six packages of cigarettes at a reduced price picked the wrong prospective customer—an off-duty sheriff's deputy.

As a result, the "salesman" was held on suspicion of burglary and of being a fugitive. Deputy Willie Reid said the man offered him cigarettes from two cardboard boxes filled with cigarettes, candy bars and gum, all hidden under a blanket in a car.

PHYSICIANS PRESCRIBE VACATIONS

Most physicians feel that a change from the usual strains of everyday living conditions is very beneficial to a person's health. A vacation is usually suggested to allow your body to have physical and mental relaxation.

To insure a happy and healthy vacation you should see your physician for a health check-up. Don't let a possible illness spoil an enjoyable time. Remember to have a sufficient supply of any medicines which you may need for regular or emergency need.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Police At Akron Slate Air Check Of Speeding

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Akron Police plan to take to the skies in their enforcement of speed limits on expressways in the city.

The plan is the idea of Robert Prease, a World War II bomber pilot who now is a captain in charge of the Traffic Bureau. Prease plans to use the four-seat light plane he bought recently, and he says he will foot the bill for gasoline—about $3.60 an hour—to get the program started.

Warning signs at spots along the 10 miles of expressway will let motorists know Prease or one of his men may be up there looking on with a stop watch.

A cruiser on the ground will be in communication with the plane, ready to arrest speeders.

Collectors Of Trash Told To Cover Cargo

Police Chief Americo J. Radeschi today warned operators of private refuse collection trucks that city ordinances require their cargoes to be covered to avoid spilling trash on the streets.

In addition, a state law makes it a misdemeanor for a trucker to spill parts of his cargo onto a street or highway, the chief added.

The chief issued the warning after receiving complaints of trucks spilling parts of their loads. The principal offenders appear to be the operators of privately-owned refuse collection trucks, the chief said.

125 Attend Program Of Area Orchardmen

LISBON — Approximately 125 attended the summer twilight meeting of the Columbiana - Mahoning orchardmen's group Tuesday at the Simmon's family orchard, south of New Waterford, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

Eldon Banta, Ohio State University horticulturist, discussed the apple tree decline and Dr. Loren D. Tukey of Penn State University spoke on "Fruit Research in Action."

A basket picnic preceded the program. The meeting was planned by the Tree fruit planning committee of Columbiana and Mahoning Counties in co-operation with the county extension offices.

In 1935 the back of the dollar bill was redesigned with the engraving of both sides of the Great Seal of the United States.

Rails

postpone the action before time ran out.

Railroad officials go before the Senate Commerce Committee today to voice their support for Kennedy's formula for handling the dispute.

Many committee members who indirectly called on the carriers Tuesday to give Congress more time to act thus will get a chance to make their appeal directly.

The House Commerce Committee begins its consideration of the administration proposal by hearing Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz who testified Tuesday before the Senate group.

One Senate source said the railroad brotherhoods have already launched a campaign against the bill, which calls for putting the dispute into the hands of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In Cleveland Roy E. Davidson, grand chief engineer of the independent Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said Tuesday he couldn't think of "a worse place than the ICC to refer the dispute to."

He charged that the ICC is "management-oriented and has no grasp of labor-management relationships and principles."

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., acting chairman of the Commerce Committee, said the union officials probably would be heard Thursday.

He promised the committee would hear management representatives after the Senate adjourns today, even if it means a night session.

In his testimony Wirtz said only collective bargaining, not legislation, can provide a completely satisfactory solution.

But he said the administration bill is the best possible and has three big virtues: It would prevent a rail shutdown, provide for disposing of the issues, and preserve collective bargaining as the preferred method of settlement.

GOP Senate Leader Dirksen told newsmen he had drawn up a resolution declaring it to be the sense of Congress that there should be no cessation of rail service until Congress had had more time to act.

Some Democratic senators pressed Wirtz Tuesday to reopen railroad union bargaining in an effort to remove the need of congressional action.

over the contract which expired May 1.

A spokesman for the Golden Star Dairy here said a strike would shut off nearly all of Beaver County's supply, as virtually all dealers now handle milk bottled in Pittsburgh. Golden Star supplies one outlet at Midland, but strikes in the past have shut off this source. Only one small dairy now operates in Beaver County as about six have gone out of business in the past few years.

worked until after 3 yesterday morning to complete pumping out basements flooded along Midland Ave.

He said the Midland department was aided by units from Liverpool Township East and West, Glenmoor, Calcutta, Ohio, and Midland Heights.

The only specific case of heavy property damage was at the Knights of Columbus hall on Midland Ave., where a concrete block wall under construction collapsed as a result of the water, causing an estimated $5,000 loss.

Meanwhile, traffic resumed yesterday afternoon on the east- and west-bound tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad, between Midland and Industry, after work crews cleared away 12 derailed freight cars.

They were shoved from the tracks during the peak of the storm Monday when the engineer backed up the Conway - bound freight to avoid a landslide that blocked the tracks.

Congress

headed by Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

Erwin N. Griswold, member of the U. S. Civil Rights Commission and dean of the Harvard Law School, told the Senate Commerce Committee in prepared testimony that the administration bill to outlaw segregation in public accommodations is "the most important issue facing this Congress."

Griswold said widespread demonstrations stemming from the denial to Negroes of access to restaurants, hotels and other places of public accommodations "has challenged our ability to govern ourselves through the peaceful and orderly processes of law."

The three religious leaders will testify before two other committees Thursday.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and its Civil Rights subcommittee, is finding it hard to bring the hearings to a close.

They began May 8 and Celler had announced his hopes of ending them this week. But the hopes have gone glimmering. He disclosed Tuesday that he has been forced to extend them at least until Aug. 2 to accommodate prospective witnesses.

Yanks 9 Games In Front; Battle Continues For 2nd Place

Podres Protects Dodgers Lead By Blanking Bucs, 6-0

New York Blanks Los Angeles, 7-0

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The battle may be over for top spot in the American League—but that's quite a skirmish going on for second place.
There are no less than four teams in a virtual deadlock for the runner-up spot behind New York's surging Yankees, whose latest drive has carried them a whopping nine games ahead of the pack.
Here's how the also-rans in the first division stand — Boston is second, one percentage point ahead of Chicago and Minnesota and three in front of Baltimore.

All but the Orioles lost ground Tuesday night. Diego Segui posted his first shutout in the majors, pitching Kansas City over the Red Sox 1-0. Detroit took the White Sox twice, 5-1 on Norm Cash's eighth-inning grand slam and 6-4. Tito Francona's homer in the 13th gave Cleveland and Jim (Mudcat) Grant a 3-2 victory over the Twins ending the Indians' losing string at nine games. The Orioles blanked Washington 4-0 behind left-hander Steve Barber.

The Yankees? They won again, naturally, riding John Blanchard's home run slugging and the shut-out pitching of Stan Williams and Steve Hamilton to a 7-0 romp over the Los Angeles Angels.

Blanchard, the reserve outfielder filling in for the ailing Roger Maris, kept up his heavy hitting with a pair of homers for the Yanks, who clinched it with a six-run cluster in the fifth inning against the Angels.

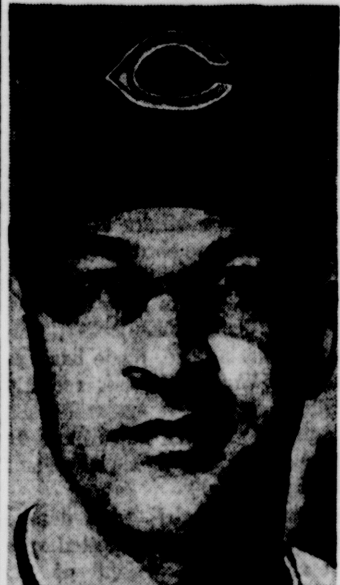

Hamilton, relieving Williams in the eighth with the bases filled, killed that threat by striking out three men in a row and completed the shutout by getting out of another bases-loaded situation in the ninth. Paul Foytack was the loser.

Segui's breaking pitches and low fastballs checked the Red Sox and brought the right-hander his fifth victory in his last six decisions.
In addition to his clinching grand slam in the opener, Cash belted another homer in the second game as the Tigers swept the White Sox and finished the doubleheader with four hits. His four-run homer came after Detroit had loaded the bases in the eighth with two out and gave the pitching victory to Hank Aguirre, who scattered 11 hits.
Al Kaline had three singles and three runs batted across in the second game, won by Bob Anderson over Dave DeBusschere.

Western Open Set To Start On Thursday

CHICAGO (AP)—A class-packed field, headed by Jack Nicklaus, Julius Boros, Bob Charles and slumping Arnold Palmer, will open competition Thursday in the 60th annual Western Open Golf Tournament at the Beverly Country Club.
Nicklaus, 22-year-old Columbus, Ohio, heavyweight, was due to play his first practice round today since his come-from-behind victory in the Professional Golfers Association championship at Dallas last Sunday. With Boros and Charles, Nicklaus is part of the trio that holds all the world's major championships. Nicklaus earlier won the Masters crown while Boros won the U.S. Open and Charles the British Open.
Jackie Cupit of Longview, Tex., who with Palmer was beaten by Boros in the National Open play-off, is the defending champion in the $50,000 tournament that carries a first prize of $10,000. He's back along with such standouts as Sam Snead and Tony Lema.
Jockey Willie Shoemaker has ridden five or more winners on a single New York racing program on five occasions.

TITO FRANCONA
Breaks Up Game In 13th.

Francona's HR In 13th Tops Twins

CLEVELAND (AP)—As Tito Francona drove the ball high and far down the right field line with two out in the 13th inning for the home run that broke Cleveland's nine-game losing streak Tuesday night, Jim (Mudcat) Grant jumped off the bench.
"Stay fair," Grant yelled. "I think I even was pushing against the air in the dugout to keep it from going foul," the happy Cleveland hurler said later.

The ball landed in the upper deck a few feet inside the foul line pole and gave Grant and the Indians a hard-earned 3-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins and Camilo Pascual.

Both Grant and Pascual went the distance in a sharp duel of right-handers. The Twins scored single runs in the second and third innings. The Indians tied it in the sixth inning on a double by Francona and Willie Kirkland's 10th homer of the season.

Francona's sixth homer of the campaign was his first since June 29.
"I expect I'm about the most tired man in town," said Grant, who blanked the hard-hitting Twins over the final 10 innings, allowing just four singles in that span. He surrendered nine hits in the entire game.

"I was afraid I might be weak," Grant said after the long contest. "About five days ago I took a big bite out of my cheek inside my mouth and I haven't been able to eat anything solid since. Haven't had any meat. Just milk and mush for five days."

Grant won his seventh game in 16 decisions for the first complete game for a Cleveland pitcher since July 7. Pascual (10-6), making his second start since missing 35 days because of a shoulder injury, struck out 11 and allowed only seven hits. His curve ball was in old-time form.

Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbets said he thought Grant was turning in the eighth when he walked two men. Grant told the manager he could "keep on going."
"He suddenly seemed to get stronger after that," Tebbets said.

Grant says this was an illusion. "I was tired in the extra innings, but I kept telling myself I had to hang in there. Somebody had to give me or Pascual—and I didn't want it to be me."

Grant walked six and struck out the same number.
The teams play a two-night doubleheader tonight. The Twins plan to throw two left-handers against the Indians — Jim Kaat (8-9) and Dick Stigman (9-9). Cleveland pitchers will be Dick Donovan (6-7) and Pedro Ramos (3-3).

Koltz was the losing pitcher for the Eastern nine.

A Guy Named Putt Gets Hole-In-One

He was playing in a three-some with his father Harold Putt, Sr. and younger brother Harold Jr. Bob also fired a 2 under par 34 for the round.
Golfer Dow Finsterwald still uses the putter he first used 10 years ago.

Maloney Pitches 1-Hitter, Fans 13

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
You can't beat the Los Angeles Dodgers' formula for winning. Just keep the opposition from scoring.
The Dodgers turned in their 17th season shutout Tuesday night as left-hander Johnny Podres protected six-game National League lead with a 6-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.
Already ahead of their previous Los Angeles shut-out record of 14 set in 1959, the Dodgers need only five more runless victories to equal their all-time Brooklyn high of 22 in 1906 and 1916.
Podres scored after the first of Podres was not particularly overpowering in spinning his fifth shutout of the campaign and 10th victory in 16 decisions. The 26-year-old southpaw permitted seven hits, walked three and allowed a Pirate runner in every inning but one. Three double plays, however, pulled him out of as many jams. John struck out six.

The second-place St. Louis Cardinals defeated Milwaukee 5-1 for their fourth straight victory. Jim Maloney pitched a one-hitter for Cincinnati, beating the Chicago Cubs and Larry Jackson 1-0. Willie Mays cracked a pair of homers in the Giants 9-1 rout of the New York Mets and Houston snapped a six-game losing streak beating Philadelphia 6-5 in 15 innings.

Bob Friend, Pittsburgh's hard-luck right-hander, allowed the Dodgers only five hits and one run before bowing out for a pinch hitter in the seventh inning but absorbed his ninth defeat, four via shutouts. The Dodgers cemented their victory with a five-run assault upon relievers Al McBean and Harvey Haddix in the eighth.
Dick Groat paced the Cards at bat against five Milwaukee pitchers with four hits, raising his league-leading batting average to his four singles in the opening inning and drove across the final tally in the eighth. Southpaw Ray Sadecki, with relief help from Ron Taylor, squared his season record at 6-4.

Maloney, a 23-year-old Cincinnati right-hander who throws as hard as anybody in the league, fanned 13 Cubs and allowed only three baserunners, all on walks, after yielding a first-inning single to Ellis Burton. It was his 15th victory against only three losses.
The game's only run was scored in the eighth. Tommy Harper singled and was forced by Vada Pinson. Gordy Coleman singled Pinson to third and Frank Robinson scored him with another single. It was Jackson's eighth loss in 16 decisions.

WBA Commissioner Asks For Ring Probe

PATERSON, N.J. (AP)—Abe J. Greene, commissioner of the World Boxing Association, has called for a congressional investigation of what he called "promotion cartels" that handle the heavyweight boxing championship.

Greene, in wires to Sens. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., and Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., said that without "strong federal control and legislation... a major scandal, possibly overshadowing any of the past, is inevitable."

Fred Bates of Hillsborough, Calif., won the pole vault event for Dartmouth in 11 of 13 dual meets this year.

Three veterans from the championship Madonna High School team and three letter winners from Weir High have been named to the North squad for the upcoming Centennial All-Star football game at Weirton's Municipal Stadium August 3.

Representing the Class AA champions of the Ohio Valley Athletic Conference are Mike Campos, Anthony DiGiralamo and Jerry Salter. Weir High's contingent includes James Young, Dan Jones and John Toutsi.

The trio from Madonna, prominent figures in Coach Joe Krivak's award-winning team, offers North Coach John Kuzio depth in experience.

Salter, who performed four years with the Blue Dons, is an able runner whose sure-footedness as a halfback helped spark the Dons in most of their wins. The slick, broken-field runner was handicapped by injuries during his last two campaigns.

DiGiralamo, a three-year veteran with the Dons, was a first string regular most of his junior year and all of his senior year. Campos, small in stature, but big in ability, was a four year veteran. Campos, a strong linebacker, was named on the O.V.A.C. and mentioned on the all state team.

Weir High's James Young played three years on the varsity performing mostly at the end position. He was a tower of strength on defense for Coach Carl Doran's aggregation.

Dan Jones suffered a broken leg in his junior year, but came back strong as a senior, playing at the fullback slot. Jones along with Young and Toutsi were members of Weirton's 1961 state championship team.

Toutsi, a varsity guard for three seasons, was especially impressive on defense and offers the North a solid performer in that department.

The North - South Centennial game is being sponsored by the Panhandle Boosters Association.

BASEBALL HEROES

BATTING — Norm Cash, Tigers, smashed two homers, one with the bases full, and added a couple of singles to lead Detroit to a 5-1 and 6-4 doubleheader sweep over the Chicago White Sox.

PITCHING — Jim Maloney, Reds, permitted only a first inning single to Ellis Burton and fanned 13 in Cincinnati's 1-0 triumph over Larry Jackson and the Chicago Cubs.

65-Year-Old Lady Hits $17,748 Twin Double

CHICAGO (AP)—"It was Irish luck and a long time coming," said Mrs. Irene Dwyer Tuesday night as she cashed a $17,748 winning ticket on the twin double at Sportsman's Park.

Brewer Hurls No-Hitter In S. Side Loop

Another no-hitter was turned in by a Lawrenceville pitcher Tuesday when Kenny Brewer turned in the masterpiece against Hanover in a 12-0, five inning make up game.

On the way to the no-hitter, Brewer fanned 10 Hanover batters in five innings.

Bill Wright with a home run and two other hits paced Lawrenceville. Anderson was the loser.

In a regularly scheduled game, Lawrenceville was the winner again over Hanover, this time 8-1 on a two-hitter by Jim Wedgewood who fanned seven batters. Shroades, Owens and Wedgewood each collected two hits for the winners and Wright hit another home run. McClosky was checked with the loss.

Rustlin Raymond Assigned Top Weight In W. Va. Derby

Trainer Angel Barrera will be trying for his second victory in the West Virginia Derby when he sends the Willhoft Bros. Stable colorbearer, Royal Woo, postward next Saturday, July 27.

Barrera trained the first winner of the classic in 1958, when on August 23 he saddled Circle K Ranch's Sea Hymn for his hard fought, come-from-behind, effort to win going away by a length over the favored Dixie Hill.

Royal Woo comes to Waterford Park well recommended for the Derby, having won five starts this year in allowance and $7500 affairs at Detroit and Sportsman's Park. The bay son of Royal Serenade has been allotted 116 pounds for the West Virginia Derby and is certain to make his presence felt in the race.

Nominations closed with 18 thoroughbreds named for the three-year-old stake, with a good possibility that at least a dozen will go postward. The race is at a mile and one-eighth and carries a purse of $5,000, added of which $3,100, plus all nomination and starting fees, going to the winner.

Racing Secretary F. G. "Pug" Wilson has given top weight of 121 pounds to J. D. Marquette's Rustlin Raymond, winner of three important events this year, an $18,000 race at Hialeah Park and two allowance affairs at Detroit. This handsome brown colt appears to be the early favorite and is expected to have the services of his regular jockey, Calvin Stone, aboard. Stone has ridden at Waterford Park recently with great success and will make the trip here from Detroit in time to ride the colt in his important engagement.

Another invader, who, despite her sex, has been imposed with second highest weight of 118 pounds, is Mrs. William Hinphy's consistent filly Charlene B. This Bell Nelson, quarterback from Southern California who aided the West in a 22-21 victory in the All-American game at Buffalo this summer, is with the Pittsburgh Steelers.

PLYMOUTH'S ON THE MOVE

WITH AMERICA'S FIRST 5-YEAR OR 50,000 MILE AUTOMOBILE WARRANTY

Talking about quality is one thing. Backing it up is another. With the announcement of America's first five-year or 50,000 mile automobile warranty, Chrysler Corporation has expressed the highest confidence in product quality know to the industry. That gets us to what PLYMOUTH'S ON THE MOVE is all about — a new concern for building better Plymouths. Better looking. Better running. Better lasting. The warranty puts it in writing.

Henry Thomas of Alliance was again casting in Lake Placentia last week when a large beaver surfaced in direct line with the cast.

The beaver got hooked, slapped his tail on the water, then crashed, snapping the fisherman's leader, and headed south down the lake with the lure imbedded in his hide.

Imagine a beaver trying to dislodge a set of gang hooks with his mouth. Could he get hooked in the lip or maybe he used his front feet and got hooked all over again. One thing is for sure, that beaver's in trouble.

I HAD A call a few days ago from a farmer asking me to stop by since the fish were all dead or dying in his pond.

First think I asked was if he had done any spraying. It also happened that he did just before a rainstorm. That answered the question. The general drainage led directly into the pond and the kill was complete.

Just last Sunday one of my neighbors sprayed brush along his fence row within 125 feet of my home. The fumes were so strong I had to shut my doors, since the wind was blowing in my direction. About the only thing people know about insecticides and pesticides are the directions on the container.

According to Rachel Carson, author of "Silent Spring", there are many dangers involved when chemical sprays are used.

I don't know how much of the stuff human beings can inhale before it becomes harmful. Not only is it used on farms but the utility companies use it to kill the saplings under the utility lines and at various times of the year you can smell it while driving along the public highways.

PRESENTLY, Max Duckworth, a special patrolman living near Alliance, has taken over the duties of the game protectors in Mahoning and Columbiana counties. Max may be contacted by writing him, Box 202, Alliance, Ohio, or can be reached by telephone, Alliance TA 3-8179.

I don't know what the holdup is in making some new appointments to take care of these vacancies, as Trumbull, Mahoning and Columbiana counties do not have an assigned game protector.

I know one thing, based on 26 years' experience, one man can't begin to take care of any one county. He can run across a violation here and there on his daily rounds, but he must depend upon the people to inform him when violations occur. In other words, a game protector is no better than the cooperation he receives.

Fishing has been poor the past week and I don't think it will improve much until about the fall of the year. Come September, most fishermen hang up their gear just as fishing begins to pick up.

U.S. Wants To Tune Up Before Meeting Russians

WARSAW (AP) — Never again will the United States track team go to Moscow for the annual dual meet with the Soviet Union without stopping off for a warm-up meet first.

That seemed certain today, after the coaches and officials had finished their analysis of the recent American invasion of Moscow that turned out only slightly better than Napoleon's.

"I am making the very strong recommendation that we have at least one tune-up meet before the Russian meet in the future," coach Payton Jordan said here where the team is preparing for the meet with Poland Friday and Saturday.

"I also think it is a good idea to get into Moscow only a day or two before the meet, and stay a few days afterwards for sight-seeing," Jordan said.

The team spent a week in Moscow this year before the meet, then almost lost it. The girls' team suffered one of the worst humiliations in American international sports history.

Actually, the team went to Moscow a week in advance to meet objections that they had been going there in the past without proper time to become accustomed to the food and water. It didn't work.

"They went too long without competition," Jordan said.

Browns Use 'Checkoff' System With Caution

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — The "checkoff" system—seldom used and a controversial subject under former Coach Paul Brown—will be employed with caution by the Cleveland Browns this season.

Coach Blanton Collier gave the Browns their first offensive play at the pro football training camp Tuesday—and a checkoff with it. "There will be a checkoff, but it won't be a promiscuous thing," Collier said. "I like to call it a controlled checkoff. If the quarterback sees his original call going into the strength of the defense, he will automatically switch to something else."

The checkoff means that the quarterback can change the play when he gets to the line of scrimmage. It's an option used by most pro football teams.

Collier said that under present planning it also will be possible to switch from a run to a pass with the checkoff.

The coach also plans to give quarterbacks Frank Ryan and Jim Ninowski more leeway in calling plays. This was not the case under Brown, who sent in the plays from the sidelines.

Liston Liable To Lick Anybody Jack Says

TORONTO (AP) — Take Jack Dempsey in his prime and match him with Sonny Liston and how would it come out?

Take the word of an expert, there's just no telling.

"It might have gone either way," said Dempsey. "This kind of a fighter is tough to fight. He's liable to lick anybody."

"He's big and strong," the old heavyweight champion said of the latest titleholder. "And with today's crop of fighters, it may be some time before you'll be able to properly size him up."

Dempsey, 68, in Canada to look over some mining property in Quebec, said he had an invitation to watch the Sonny Liston-Floyd Patterson rematch on closed circuit television Monday night, but passed it up.

Dempsey, who lost his title to Gene Tunney, then lost again in a rematch, said he quit the ring because "I didn't want to get hurt."

Patterson, twice the victim of first-round knockouts, should do the same thing, he said.

Grand Jury Due Study Of Killings By Fairfield Man

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—The Fairfield County grand jury is scheduled to meet next Monday and hear evidence seeking three indictments against Frederick Spears, who is charged with the slayings of two women.

Prosecutor E. Raymond Morehart will present the evidence to the grand jury of last April. The grand jury was recalled Tuesday.

Spears, 26, has admitted murders of Mrs. Virginia Wagner last December and Mrs. Mona Eckard last May, and also with the assault of a Fairfield County mother of four June 13.

Spears had been questioned twice in the death of Mrs. Wagner. He was apprehended after the Fairfield County woman was attacked, and police said that during questioning he admitted the slayings of Mrs. Wagner and Mrs. Eckard.

Store Reports Profit After Burglar Strikes

LUMBERTON, Miss. (AP) — In an attempted burglary of a dairy bar here, the owner Fred Tyner came out ahead.

Tyner discovered a man putting silver in a paper bag by the cash register when he was awakened about 3 a.m. He grabbed the man as he ran by causing him to drop the bag of coins. When he counted the money, Tyner discovered there was $1.35 more than he had left in the register.

A nearby grocery reported the loss of a small amount of coins the same night.

Brown, Cordileone Draw Attention As Steelers Open Football Drills

WEST LIBERTY — The Steelers blew up the footballs at their West Liberty State College training camp today and a great deal of the attention centered on two veterans — Ed Brown and Lou Cordileone.

Quarterback Brown will replace Bobby Layne, who retired after fourteen seasons in the National Football League. Cordileone has been slated to take over for the late Big Daddy Lipscomb at defensive tackle.

"FORTUNATELY, both boys have been in the league for a number of years," head coach Buddy Parker commented as his team went through their first calisthenics. "They will not feel the pressure like a rookie who would be starting in this league. After all, Brown led the Chicago Bears to a divisional title in the late fifties. He has had a wealth of experience and we know he is capable of winning with the pros. You can see he is big and strong and durable."

BROWN, who was a star at San Francisco University, is six-foot-two and weighs in the neighborhood of 215 pounds.

Cordileone will be starting his fourth year in the league. He has had rather a nomadic career in the league, playing with four teams in that time.

A big fellow (250 pounds) with unusual speed, he was the New York Giants first draft choice in 1959. His reputation was such that the San Francisco 49ers were willing to give up quarterback Y. A. Tittle for him.

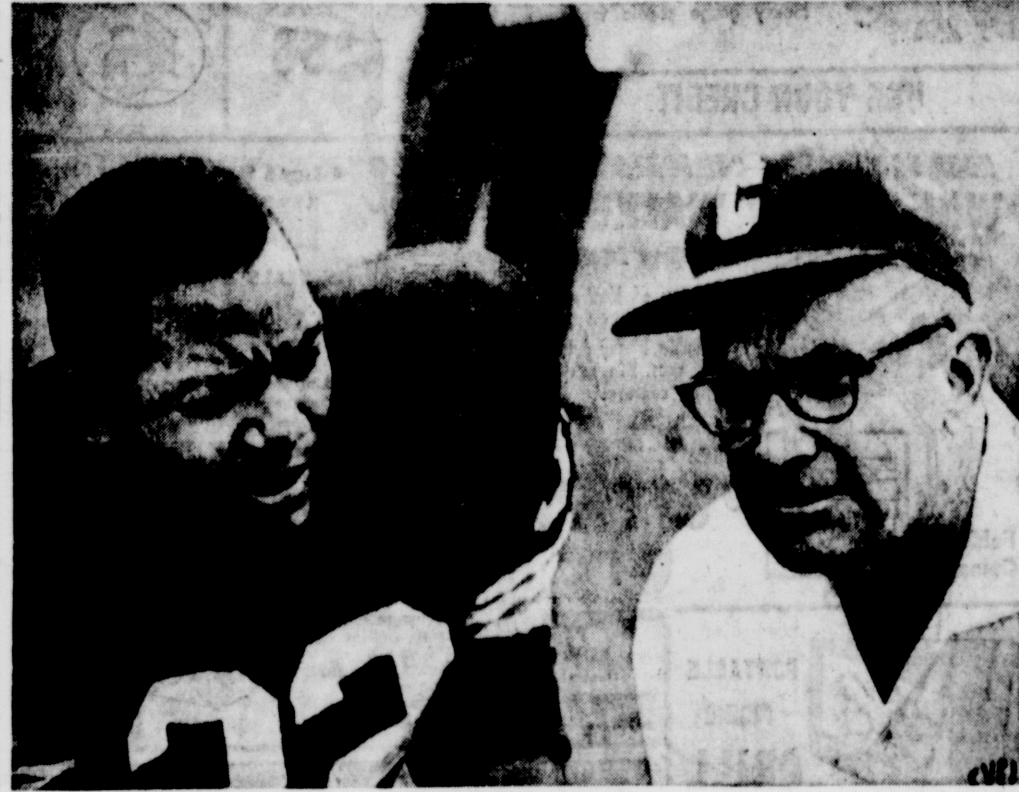

EVENTUALLY, the 49ers sent him to the Los Angeles Rams and the Rams, in turn, traded him to Pittsburgh.

At the end of last season when the Steelers' defensive tackle, Joe Krupa, was injured, Cordileone replaced him and was a real terror in the last two games of the season and in the Runner-Up Bowl in Miami against the Detroit Lions.

PARKER felt that stepping into Lipscomb's place will not cause Cordileone any difficulty. "Anyone who knows Lou," Parker laughed, "knows that nothing bothers him."

"He has a tremendous potential," Parker said. "He proved it in college. He proved it during the latter part of the last season. I guess it will be up to us to get him moving this year."

There is no question Cordileone and Brown can do the job, according to the coach. "I have great confidence in them. That is why I am optimistic about the 1963 season."

Maloney Considers 1-Hit Job At Chicago His Best

Associated Press Sports Writer CHICAGO (AP)—Maturity and ability are two of the assets needed to become a winning major league pitcher and Jim Maloney of the Cincinnati Reds has acquired both talents in one season.

The 23-year-old right-hander, who in three previous seasons in the majors could amass only 17 victories, rang up his 15th of the year Tuesday against the Chicago Cubs with a magnificent one-hit, 1-0 triumph.

Maloney, who has lost only three games this year in comparison to 20 in previous major league competition, considered his job against the Cubs the greatest of his career.

Ellis Burton's single through the left side of the infield in the first inning was the only hit off Maloney who finished strong and struck out 13.

Maloney is a product of Fresno, Calif., High School and played on the same prep team which had Dick Ellsworth of the Cubs as its star pitcher.

"I played shortstop on the team," says Maloney, "and was used as a third pitcher when we got into tournaments. Dick and Len Rube were the team's regular pitchers."

Ellsworth, who has a 13-7 record and will face Cincinnati today, signed a bonus contract the day after he graduated in 1958. Maloney went on to college for a semester and finally signed a bonus contract with the Reds in April 1959.

He flourished until this season when he developed a sidearm fast ball and curve to go with his overhand fast ball and curve.

"I finally got those other pitches to a point where I could control them and went from a loser to a winner," said Maloney. "This has to be the best game I've ever pitched."

Pickets Hold New Protest

NEW YORK (AP)—A reduced force of racial demonstrators returned today to a Brooklyn hospital construction project and demanded more jobs for Negroes and Puerto Ricans in the city's building trades.

The scene is one of two construction sites in the city where police Tuesday arrested more than 140 sit-down pickets.

Pickets did not return today to the second site—a housing project in Queens.

As the Brooklyn demonstration began, 40 pickets walked slowly on a barricaded strip of sidewalk along one entrance to the new Downstate Medical Center. They carried placards and occasionally sang or chanted.

The pickets were divided almost evenly between whites and Negroes and between men and women.

Police today also had a reduced force at the scene—210 officers compared with some 300 Tuesday. Police arrested 116 pickets Tuesday when they blocked the entrance of construction supplies.

The Rev. Milton Galamison, one of the Negro demonstration leaders, said he did not expect too many pickets at the medical center today.

"We may block truck entrances if we have enough people on hand," he said.

Defendant Given 'Delay En Route' In Trip To Home

An elderly Beverly (W. Va.) man was given what the armed forces call a "delay en route" when he appeared before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff this morning on an intoxication charge for the second time in two days.

Guy E. McCune drew a fine of $50 and costs and was remanded to County Jail for lack of payment — equivalent to a term of about 20 days.

When McCune faced the judge originally on Tuesday, he was given a suspended $10 fine on condition he left East Liverpool. Almost four hours later, McCune was arrested in the Mahattan Cafe on E. 2nd St. on an intoxication charge, police said.

Queried by the court about his non-compliance with yesterday's order, McCune said he was "looking for my suitcase."

"You'll never find it in a tavern," the judge replied. When McCune offered to leave town if given a suspended fine, the judge replied:

"You will leave town all right—after you have served time in the County Jail." Then he decreed the $50 fine.

VMI Cadet Talks To Chester Club

Steven McHenry of Columbia Dr., Chester, a third classman at Virginia Military Institute in Lexington, spoke about the school at the meeting of Chester Kiwanis Club Tuesday at the City Hall.

He discussed some of the early history of the school, which was founded in 1863, and related that during the Civil War many of the students participated in the battle of New Market, Va.

He said enrollment has been constant at about 1,100 since the turn of the century and will advance to about 1,150 for the coming term.

Classes run from 8 to 4 daily and a half-day Saturday, plus 15 hours of required drill per week. McHenry, a member of the Cadet Band, plans to enter the Army after graduation.

He was introduced by the Rev. C. Donald Vogel, chairman. Invocation was given by R. M. McFarland. Sixteen attended. Next meeting is Tuesday.

Groat's Bat Gives Cards Extra Lift

By DAVE O'HARA

Associated Press Sports Writer MILWAUKEE (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals are back on the beam after an eight-game losing string and veteran shortstop Dick Groat is leading the way as the hottest hitter in baseball.

The second-place Cardinals posted their fourth straight victory and sixth in the last seven games by defeating the Milwaukee Braves 5-1 Tuesday night as Groat collected four singles in five times at bat.

In the current winning streak, Groat has 14 hits in 18 trips to the plate, raising his National League-leading average from .326 to a hefty .343. He topped the league with a .325 mark and earned Most Valuable Player honors in leading the Pittsburgh Pirates to the pennant and the World Series championship in 1960.

"The hits are finding the holes and I'll take them," Groat said. "I'm hitting the ball as well as I ever did, but it's too early to think about another batting title. The average can go down a lot faster than it goes up."

The 32-year-old Groat wielded his bat in typical fashion in the opener of a three-game series with the Braves. In the first inning, he grounded a single through the hole to right and scored a run. He grounded out to short in the third, singled to left in the fifth and then looped another single to right in the sixth. He finished by grounding a single to right, driving in a run, in the eighth.

The Cardinals obtained Groat from the Pirates last fall as rumors persisted in Pittsburgh that he had slowed down too much to continue as a shortstop.

Water Show Slated Friday

Participants in the water safety program of the Red Cross Chapter will present their annual water show Friday night at 7:30 at the municipal swimming pool in Thompson Park.

The program will feature demonstrations of swimming strokes, diving and life - saving techniques, a brief address by a speaker, and presentation of certificates.

Two three-week water safety courses, free to area residents, have been given at the pool by Miss Marilyn Eckert as part of the water safety program of the chapter.

An adult class taught by Don Eckert will demonstrate life-saving techniques, and there will be comedy acts by several instructor aides.

The water safety committee includes Mrs. R. J. Schiff, chairman, Mrs. Richard Martin and James Walker, chapter chairman. A total of 218 received certificates last year for passing final tests in water safety.

Car Breaks Leg And Attendance Record For Boy

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Charlie Hill Jr. was scheduled to get an award when Patterson High School, now completing its school year, held a recognition breakfast.

Charlie's award was in recognition of four years of perfect attendance, no absences or tardy marks since the eighth grade.

However, Charlie didn't make the recognition breakfast.

The night before, as he was waiting for a bus, a car jumped the curb, hit Charlie and broke his leg—along with his perfect attendance record.

The first 300 game approved by the American Bowling Congress was rolled by A. C. Jellison of St. Louis on Dec. 15, 1908.

Park To Hold Swim Classes

Len Szafaryn, director, said the Beaver County Recreation Department has scheduled free swimming lessons at Brady's Run Park to promote water safety.

Lessons for youngsters and adults will be held every Thursday and Saturday from 10 a. m. to noon for three weeks starting tomorrow.

There will be a class for those 6 to 12 and another for 12 and over. Persons desiring may register at the time of the first lesson tomorrow.

The department is sponsoring Recreation Week through Sunday. Today was Family Day, with the entire family admitted to swim for the price of one. Joe Downie was to give tennis lessons from 1 to 3 p. m. for children and 6 to 8 p. m. for adults. Thursday will be Ladies Day, with all women admitted free for swimming. Bill Babal, U. S. Tourney qualifier, will give golf lessons, with beginners classes set for 6 to 7 p. m. and advanced classes 7 to 8 p. m.

Sunday will feature a horse show, sponsored by the Beaver Valley Saddle Club, and a free band concert in the band shell at 4 p. m. with the MPI Band of Aliquippa, directed by Albert Bianucci.

Ohio Worker Indicted For Woman's Murder

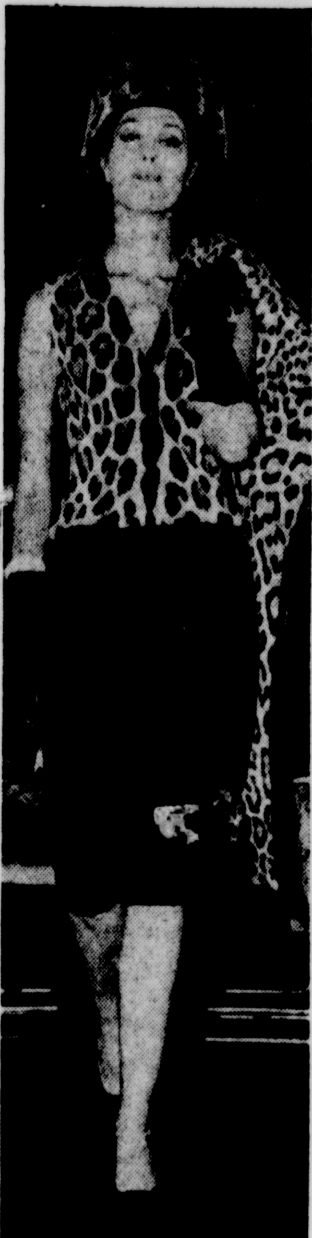

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — John E. Woodards, a husky construction worker from North Ridgeville, has been indicted for first-degree murder in the sex-slaying of his former landlady in Columbia Station.

Woodards, 25, is accused of the July 13 criminal assault and the beating which killed Mrs. Margaret Van Arsdale, 83. He was indicted Tuesday.

$1 Million Ford Grant

CLEVELAND (AP) — Western Reserve University announced today the receipt of a $1 million grant from the Ford Foundation for the school's Department of Biology.

The announcement said Dr. Howard A. Schneiderman, Biology Department head, will direct the program that will be financed by the five-year grant.

Motorist Given Term For Fatality, Blinding

CINCINNATI (AP) — Charles Edward Payne, 21, was sentenced Tuesday to an indeterminate term in the Ohio reformatory for second-degree manslaughter in an accident which killed one man and blinded another.

Records showed Charles A. Aery, 49, was killed in the two-car collision last Nov. 3 and Robert Buckle was blinded. Payne was accused of being drunk and pleaded guilty.

West Virginia Pay Hikes Hit

CHARLESTON (AP) — State Auditor Denzil L. Gainer says he will not authorize payment of salary increases voted by the 1963 Legislature for three state officials.

Gainer said that after conferences with members of the attorney general's staff, he was convinced that the $2,000-a-year increases for public service commissioners Hillis Townsend and Joseph E. Hodgson and Labor Commissioner Lawrence Barker would be in violation of constitutional provisions.

The constitution generally provides that the salaries of such officials cannot be raised or cut during a term of office.

The Legislature voted a boost from $10,000 to $12,000 a year for the three public service commissioners and from $8,000 to $10,000 for the labor commissioner effective last July 1. Commissioner Virginia Mae Brown of the PSC will get the salary increase because she was appointed to a new term last month.

Barker's term expires March 31, 1965. The six-year terms of Townsend and Hodgson run until May 31, 1965, and May 31, 1967, respectively.

The Los Angeles Rams won only one of 14 National Football League games last season.

9 Arrested In Dayton Numbers Racket Raid

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Nine persons have been arrested in a raid on a house described as a numbers racket nest. Police call the coup Dayton's biggest since Ohio toughened its gambling law two years ago.

Officers said Tuesday's raid put a crimp in a $1,000-a-day operation.

Lorain Boy Killed

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — Ernest Noble, 5, dashed from behind an ice cream truck near his home Tuesday night, and a car struck and injured him fatally.

Bandit Takes $1,994 From Suburban Bank

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Clues were scanty as Franklin County authorities continued efforts today to track down the 6-foot, 200-pound gunman who robbed a Park Federal Savings & Loan Co. branch Tuesday.

The robber, brandishing a revolver, got $1,994 from two women tellers at the office in Lincoln Village just west of here.

Windshield Broken

LISBON — A foot-long piece of rim steel from a passing truck crashed through the passenger side of the windshield of the car of Sol W. Stern, 68, of Cleveland at noon Tuesday on W. Lincoln Way. Stern caught up with the truck driven by Carl L. Crowell, 27, of Hanoverton, who was unaware of the mishap, according to Police Chief Leon Zahrdt, advised firms that have insurance on both vehicles. The truck owned by Wilbur Hawthorn Lisbon. No one was hurt.

Lip Service To Rights

Prejudice In Ohio Aired In Institute At Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Prejudice wears the face of lip service to the ideal of civil rights, yet delay and evasion in implementation.

Prejudice wears the face of a school teacher who calls Marco Perez "Mike Perris" because it's "easier to pronounce."

Prejudice wears the face of a local police officer who hears "hill talk" and presumes the guilt of his victim.

These faces of prejudice were described here Tuesday at the Institute on Human Relations at Ohio State University.

Two speakers turned their remarks to specific situations in Ohio—the Southern Appalachian migrants in the industrial cities and the Spanish-speaking peoples in Lorain.

The problem of the mountain people, those derogatorily called "hillbillies," is primarily a lack of adjustment to urbanization, said Russell Porter, director of health education in the Cincinnati Health Department.

The open act of prejudice mainly is name-calling, but the migrants' unfamiliarity with modern life and his lack of education creates a problem, Porter explained.

Porter listed the two types of persons who leave the mountains for the industrial areas — the starving poor because there is no work in the mountains and the educated because there is no opportunity.

"From a population of nine million, 13 per cent migrate to the industrial complex of the Midwest every 10 years," he said.

About 10 percent of these people become problems to law enforcers and welfare agencies, he added, and the big job of these agencies is understanding and urban adjustment.

The story of Lorain, where some 8,000 Puerto Ricans and Mexicans have settled since World War II, was described by the Rev. Martin Van Trieste, pastor of a Spanish-speaking parish.

Father Van Trieste told of the labor importation by Lorain's heavy industry and the subsequent migration of families to the area. What has happened in Lorain is a shift from an active and strong discrimination to a more subtle kind based on ignorance. "Officially," he said, "there is no discrimination."

The priest said his Spanish-speaking people have made a better adjustment in Lorain than those in New York because the Lake Erie community is more controlled and less populated. He also attributes much of the success to a population more than half of which is Roman Catholic. Since the largest percentage of Puerto Ricans and Mexicans are Catholic, the church is a unifying force, he said.

Father Van Trieste said the Spanish vote, used as a political football between Lorain Republicans and Democrats, also has helped the people.

"The goal of the Spanish-speaking people in Lorain is integration, not assimilation," he said. "There has been a deepening of community understanding."

He said there still exist many problems and much misunderstanding, singling out inadequate housing, overcrowding and high rents. "Lorain has no adequate housing code, but this is a community problem, not one of the Spanish-speaking population alone."

French Senate Votes

Down Anti-Strike Bill

PARIS (AP)—The French Senate rejected the government's antistrike bill by a vote of 203-36 early today but it still will probably be enacted.

The bill goes to a joint Senate-Assembly committee which will seek a compromise. If none is found, the Guallist majority in the Assembly can enact the legislation despite Senate opposition.

County Scouts Await Ranch Trip Windup

Twenty-two Explorers and Boy Scouts of the Columbiana Council will pack up their gear and start back home Friday after two weeks at the Philmont Scout Ranch at Cimarron, N. M. The delegation is due home Sunday.

The group left July 12th for the national camping area of the Boy Scouts of America under the leadership of Ray Dyke and Fred Roth, traveling across seven states by train.

Robert Mollenkopf, official reporter for the county expedition, wrote that "after reaching Philmont we went through a short orientation program with our Philmont Ranger."

"The following day we left for our base camp, which is the starting point to the different trail camps. From this point we participated in such activities as gold panning, horseback riding, burro packing, fishing, moskeet, riflery, dutch oven cooking and mountain climbing. We have had the opportunity to engage in projects dealing with axmanship, conservation and archeology.

"We have had a rough and exciting, but fun-filled time. Our last day here, July 26, will come too soon for us."

Young Mollenkopf is a member of Boy Scout Troop 45 of East Palestine, sponsored by the American Legion Post there.

School Art Ruled Crash Damages Off Liquor Books Car Of Minister In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa. — The Great Debate over depicting a "Little Red School House" on the cover of state liquor price lists has quietly passed into limbo.

It was learned the new price lists will be on the counters of state stores around the first week of August. The cover design will be a montage of the sights and scenes awaiting Pennsylvania motorists at county fairs this fall. No schoolhouses.

The tempest in the teapot (strong tea, that is) blew up when the governor's office issued a permissive memorandum to the State Liquor Control Board that a "Little Red School House" would be more artistic for the covers than a county fair.

The Liquor Board didn't agree and discreetly said so. Everybody, of course, is discreet in taking issue with the governor.

Anyway, the board met, reluctantly, and adopted the "Little Red School House" as the symbol for its autumn issue of the price list.

Then the Pennsylvania Temperance League got into the act. The very idea, it stormed, equated education with drinking liquor. It was "outrageous."

This jolted the governor's office into issuing a new memorandum reviewing its position and concluding:

"The board would be perfectly within its rights in deciding not to use the cover."

It was learned the Liquor Control Board took that last paragraph as a cue and quietly shelved the Little Red School House.

Driver Fund Boosted
By West Virginia Unit

CHARLESTON (AP) — The Board of Public Works has authorized Motor Vehicle Commission Jack A. Nuckols to spend $50,700 on his driver improvement system this fiscal year.

An expenditure schedule approved by the board Tuesday reflected the transfer of the $50,700 from the "extra help" account to the driver improvement program, commonly called the penalty point system.

That left the "extra help" account with only $22,280 compared with $61,440 for the year that ended June 30. The Department of Motor Vehicles customarily takes on temporary employees in the summer to help out with the license plate rush.

Nuckols said he believed the department could survive the cut in extra help funds.

Harris-Intertype said Tuesday it has acquired a large interest in Marioni S. A. and Ets. Edouard Lamont S.A., two closely allied French companies producing printing presses. No price was disclosed, but it was believed to be about $2 million.

The Rail Solution

Kennedy Plan Seen Multiple Boon

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's plan for solving the railroad dispute—or at least postponing a showdown until after the 1964 election—should try several kinds of fish, none of them to his disadvantage.

1. It should eliminate the dispute as an issue in the election campaign.

2. It should avoid getting labor in general mad at him.

3. It should take the railroad union leaders off the hook.

4. It should help the railroads begin saving money.

All this is conditioned on one thing: that the 11-man Interstate Commerce Commission act instead of stall.

Kennedy has asked Congress to empower the ICC for a two-year period, to hand down decisions in this railroad-union argument which already has dragged on for four years.

Under Kennedy's proposal men whose jobs are ordered eliminated by the ICC are to be transferred to other ones or, if they are laid off, are to get severance pay, like the regular salary for three years, or other benefits.

Suppose that, for the two years before the ICC's authority ends, they're been laid off or transferred to other jobs. When the ICC then no longer can give orders will the union leaders start another national crisis to get their jobs back?

They might try, but it's doubtful they would. Their cause would have lost much of its steam not only in the public mind but probably in the view of the other unionists who still had jobs.

It might have been very sore if, instead of this plan, he had asked Congress to force a settlement by compelling railroads and unions to submit to compulsory arbitration, a device unions and management both detest.

That would be naked use of government power. Kennedy in his message to Congress Monday also expressed distaste for settling disputes through compulsory arbitration.

But the very plan he worked out, in effect compulsory arbitration, although he didn't dress it with that name. He made it sound much milder.

This is why.

Since the ICC can hand down decisions, and can get a court injunction to prevent a strike if the unions resist the decision, the result is that the unions will have to accept the ICC's findings. That's compulsory arbitration.

True, the decisions are supposed to last only for the two-year life of the ICC's authority. After that, supposedly, the decisions will have no effect and railroads and unions will be free to settle their differences themselves.

But if then a strike threatened again, the President would again stop in by asking that the ICC's authority be renewed for another two years or he'd try some other method. But he wouldn't let a strike happen.

The ICC's almost total problem will be the manpower one. The railroads want to cut expenses—and presidential commissions and the Supreme Court have said they have a right to — by wiping out jobs which, they argue, have been rendered unnecessary by modernization.

The railroads want to eliminate thousands of jobs, mostly those of firmen who had to be needed to shovel coal in steam locomotives but now ride in diesel engines.

Barber's Kept Busy
As Beards Bite Dust

HARPER, Tex. (AP)—This West Texas city's only barber shop is usually closed on Mondays, but Roy Roberts, the owner, found he had a very brisk business the day after prizes were awarded in a beard growing contest.

Nearly 100 men participated in the contest and some had been letting their beards grow for eight or nine months.

Roberts had planned to shave himself and no one else when he opened his shop at 5:30 a. m., but he worked all day. It took about 45 minutes to shave one man whose beard had been growing a year.

At the end of the day Roberts had accumulated a bushel basket of hair. He said he got good tips; one man gave him $5 extra for his shave.

Trouble Forces Delay
In Launch Of Satellite

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Spacecraft technical problems today forced an indefinite postponement in the scheduled attempt to launch the Syncom 2 communications satellite into a 22,300-mile-high orbit where it would appear to hang over one area of the earth.

The trouble cropped up only a few hours before launching while the countdown was under way.

Papers Go Through
KISSIMMEE, Fla. (AP)—The papers must be delivered. Jim Johnson, a Negro in his 70s, took over his wife Carrie's Orlando Sentinel route when she had to be hospitalized. He delivered her entire route, which covers 17 miles mostly over dirt streets, before it was learned that he had walked the distance. He does not drive and he wanted to be sure her customers had their papers.

Work Halted Over Hirings

CLEVELAND (AP)—Fifty-five men who walked off the job at the $11.5 million expansion project at Public Auditorium resumed work today about an hour after returning to the construction site.

The walkout occurred Tuesday after two Negro plumbers reported for work on the project.

Edward F. Domas, general organizer for the United Association of Plumbers and Pipe Fitters, talked to the men this morning, telling them they could be fired if they did not return to work.

He told city officials that the walkout by plumbers, pipe fitters and asbestos workers was "just a big misunderstanding."

Domas said the problem had been ironed out after a 20-minute meeting with Mayor Ralph Locher.

Locher said he told Domas he expected the unions to abide by an agreement reached last week with the United Freedom Movement, a civil rights group seeking to put Negro craftsmen to work on the project. The group had threatened to picket the project.

The mayor quoted Domas as blaming the walkout on the union's failure to receive what the union leader called sufficient notice from the contractor who hired the two Negroes.

6 Hurt In Beaver County Collision

Four youngsters and their mothers were hospitalized with injuries suffered Tuesday afternoon at 2:45 in a car-truck collision on Route 51 north of Rochester in Chippewa Township, Beaver County.

Pennsylvania State Police said a 1953 model auto driven by Mrs. Francis E. Clyde, 28, of Ellwood City was hit from the rear by a tractor-trailer operated by James Misner, 35, of Freedom.

Taken to Providence Hospital at Beaver Falls were Mrs. Clyde, Mrs. Angie Yova, 22, also of Ellwood City; Mrs. Clyde's children, Ray, 3, Frances, 8, and Katherine, 7, and Mrs. Yova's child, Terri, 2.

Frances Clyde later was transferred to Children's hospital in Pittsburgh, where her condition today was listed as "serious."

The others all were in "fair" condition at the Beaver Falls hospital.

Township Surprises Voters—Lets Levy Die

GREENFIELD, Ohio (AP)—The Fairfield Township Board of Trustees at nearby Leesburg just might have done something new in these times of economic stresses.

The trustees announced they will not ask for renewal of a one-half mill levy that expires Dec. 31. Their reason?

The revenue from the levy is no longer needed.

Approved in 1958 to provide funds earmarked for purchase of a fire department tanker and improve township cemeteries, the levy produced $10,000 over the five-year period.

Trustees Maynard Smith, Don Ingersoll and Grover Wiedemann were responsible for the decision not to ask for renewal.

Rescuer Forgotten.
But Rescues Himself

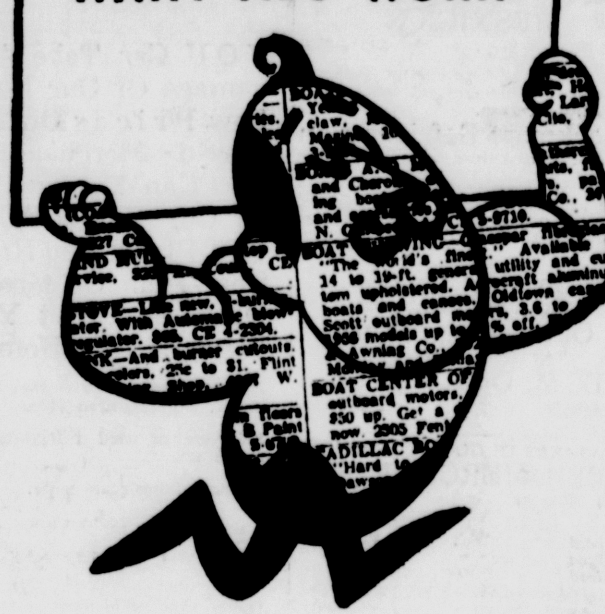

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP)—When Johnny Simon fell into the well, his 14-year-old brother, Ronnie, pulled him out.

Their mother lowered Ronnie into the well with a rope. He stood on rocks jutting from the side, tied the rope around his 2-year-old brother, and Mrs. Simon pulled him to safety.

She was so busy sending Johnny to the doctor, she forgot about Ronnie. He eventually climbed out by himself.

Junior Editors Quiz on PARACHUTES

QUESTION: How can a parachute prevent a person from falling too fast?

ANSWER: The principle of the parachute has been known for a long time. Leonardo da Vinci drew a sketch of a man using one in 1493. But it was a long time before people got up enough nerve to try them, for the first successful jump using a parachute was not made until 1783.

When a man jumps from a plane, the force of gravity starts to pull him down, and he begins to move so fast that he would almost certainly be killed if he hit the ground. But if he has a parachute strapped to his back and pulls the ring attached to the "rip cord", the rolled up parachute will pop out and begin to open. Then, as in the big picture, he will drift slowly down and can land on the ground without injury. What has happened is that the very large, wide surface of the open parachute has offered resistance to the air. This resistance is not enough to prevent the airman from moving down, but it slows his fall just enough so he can land safely.

FOR YOU TO DO: You can see these principles, gravity and the resistance of the air, really at work if you make a parachute of your own as shown. If you haven't a silk handkerchief, a handkerchief-sized square of some other very light material will do. After making it, roll it up carefully and wrap the threads neatly around it. Then toss it as high as you can into the air. The wind will carry it a good long way when opened.

Roberta Jones of Peshigo, Wis., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you too may win a set.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: This may sound pretty silly but I'm dead serious and I need an outside opinion. My boy friend kisses me with his eyes open. Several times I have peeked and there he is—staring. It just spoils everything for me. I can't understand why he does this. What can he be looking at? At such close range I should think his eyes would cross.

Maybe I'm silly but I've always believed that a kiss should be soulful and dreamy. It seems that he wouldn't be looking around unless he were bored.

I have never mentioned this to him because I don't know what to say. Can you help?—PUCKERED BUT UNHAPPY.

Dear Unhappy: Your boy friend probably has no idea that this bothers you, and after 50 years he still won't know—unless you clue him.

Tell him exactly how you feel. As with most problems, the simple, direct approach is the most effective.

No Weeper

Dear Ann: I'm a 15-year-old girl who would like your frank opinion on whether or not I'm normal.

For years on the last day of camp when all my bunkmates were weeping hysterically at saying farewell, I was never able to join them in this display of emotion. I just can't throw my arms around people and sob. I have strong feelings for people but I've never been able to show them.

Even in a sad movie when everyone else is crying buckets I can't squeeze out a tear. I feel sad but I don't cry.

Last night I went to a very depressing play with two girl friends. They were bawling their eyes out, and me—nothing, as usual. One of the girls said later, "I think there must be something wrong with you. Anyone who can sit dry-eyed through a performance like that has got to be abnormal."

Is she right? NO WEEPING WILLOW.

Dear Willow: Some people can turn the tears on and off like a faucet. It doesn't mean they feel any worse or that they are more deeply grieved than the person who shows nothing.

Weeping can be a healthy emotional catharsis, but if you can't wring out a tear it's really nothing to cry about.

Too Young

Dear Ann: My husband's father is very sick. He has an incurable illness and the doctors say he can't live more than a few months.

Our 6-year-old son knows that grandpa is not going to get well. We've told Freddie that grandpa will soon be going to his heavenly home where he will have rest and peace and be free of pain.

Now Freddie talks about nothing but the funeral. He has asked dozens of questions. He just assumes he will be present. The question is, should he be? My husband says, "Yes." I'm not so sure.

I remember the first funeral I attended when I was 7. I had terrible nightmares for years. It left me with fears from which I've never completely recovered.

I'm afraid of subjecting our son to the same hazard. What do you say?—W.D.T.

Dear W.D.T.: A 6-year-old is too young to attend a funeral, particularly if the casket is open for viewing. Although you didn't spell it out, I feel reasonably certain that this is what caused your nightmares.

Confidentially

TO FED UP WITH FOUL MOUTH: Profanity is a crutch for conversational cripples. Tell him to clean up his language or find another girl.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Who's Been Away?

The Vacationist Returns

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — There's nothing quite like a vacation to teach a fellow his place in the office.

It was Smythe's first day back after three weeks spent listening to his wife and building sand castles for the kiddies at good old Quagmire Cottages-by-the-sea.

Smythe was the first man into the office. He went to the washroom, combed his hair, straightened his necktie, practiced in the mirror his gee but it's great to be back again grin.

Then he went to his desk, methodically tore off the pages necessary to bring his calendar up to date—and collapsed on his swivel chair, completely exhausted.

In the next hour, 37 fellow workers passed Smythe's paper-hare desk.

"Glad to see you back—been sick?" asked 25.

The other 12 made such remarks as:

"If I'd of known you'd of been out this long, I'd sent you a get well card."

"What hospital were you in?"

"They must have kept you under a sun lamp a lot. You gotta nice tan there."

"How'd the nurses treat you?"

After each remark — nobody asked him about his vacation—Smythe made a lonely trip to the water cooler.

At 10 o'clock he went over to report to the chief accountant.

"I guess I better start catching up with the situation," said Smythe. "Who handled my work while I was gone?"

"What work?" inquired the chief accountant.

Smythe trudged back to his desk and busied himself neatly arranging the paper clips in the top drawer.

At noon he went to lunch with three old cronies. He pulled out some snapshots taken during his vacation, but nobody seemed interested in them.

After lunch Smythe re-sharpened his pencils until 3 o'clock when he received a surprise summons from the big boss.

Handing him a cigar, the big boss said:

"Smythe, you've been doing a splendid job for the firm the last few weeks, and I just want to let you know first-hand there'll be an extra $20 on your next paycheck."

"But, sir, I've been on vacation for the last three weeks."

"Aren't you Ed Smythe from sales?"

"No, sir, I'm Jim Smythe in accounting."

The big boss reached out, plucked back his cigar and said, "My mistake, Smythe. But remember, no matter what department you're in—keep up the good work."

Upon leaving the office Smythe walked alone to his favorite tavern.

"Well, well, well — welcome back, Mr. Smythe," said the bartender. "Sure did miss you. Did you have a nice vacation?"

Smythe leaned his forehead on the shiny mahogany bar and broke into tears. He was very, very late getting home that night.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, July 24, the 205th day of 1963. There are 160 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1946, the United States conducted the first underwater test of an atomic bomb off Bikini atoll in the Pacific. The bomb's destructive capacity far exceeded that of an A-bomb dropped from the air several weeks earlier.

On this date

In 1534, Jacques Cartier landed at the site of Gaspé, Que., and took possession of Canada in the name of France.

In 1797, English naval hero Lord Nelson lost his right arm during an unsuccessful attack on Santa Cruz in the Canary Islands.

In 1866, the first U.S. flag made of domestic materials was raised over the Capitol in Washington, D.C.

In 1922, the League of Nations approved the British mandate for Palestine.

In 1945, Belgium's foreign minister, Paul-Henri Spaak, demanded the abdication of King Leopold III.

Ten years ago New Hampshire's famed Bible-quoting Republican U. S. Senator, Charles Tobey, died at the age of 73.

Five year ago A New York grand jury indicted underworld

One year ago President Kennedy and Ecuadorean President Arosemena concluded two days of formal conversations in Washington on inter-American problems.

Keep In Trim

Stop Stuffing, Start Slimming

A troubled teen-ager writes: "I am 15, 5' 4" tall and I weigh 160 pounds. My measurements are bust 37, waist 29, hips 42. I've never had a date in my life."

"I have been on all kinds of diets, so I can't expect anyone at home to believe I'm in earnest until I lose this fat once and for all!"

I promise I'm really going to lose weight this time. I would like to be your secret dieter and report. Maybe if I thought people were reading my reports I'd stick to my diet. I know from experience that I feel better when I diet, but I have always gained back what I lost. I need help!"

All teens in the same fattening fix, today's column is for you. Forget about faddy dieting. If you will stop stuffing, you can slim down. Take it from a success model. "The way I lost my 30 bulky pounds was to stop eating sweets." She laid off the sundaes, milk shakes, candy and cokes. She ate three moderate meals a day and had a late day snack. She slimmed down and had two bids to the prom.

GIRLS, the day you make up your mind that fun isn't in eating sweets, and that you have what it takes to get out of the fat girl class, you're on your way. It's a change of thinking that is needed. All right. Tomorrow morning, eat breakfast, including an egg. Have a slice of toast lightly spread (no jam). Also have fruit or fruit juice. In the middle of the morning drink a glass of skim milk. At lunch include a protein food, such as lean meat in a sandwich. A slimming sandwich is made with two thin slices of bread and a thick filling of lean meat or chicken. Use mustard. Also, have a generous serving of cottage cheese, a glass of skim milk and a fruit. That lunch will stay with you until late afternoon.

BY 4:00 you'll feel starved again. Then is the time to have a pick-up, an ounce wedge of cheese or an apple. Do not boobytrap yourself by eating a sweet, because the more sweets you eat the more you crave. This is a physical factor. Lay off sweets for three weeks and you can stop the powerful stimulus that is perpetuating the craving.

Well, have you got what it takes, or haven't you? Nobody else can do the reducing for you! Tonight at dinner, after you've eaten a modest meal, pull your belt a notch tighter, get up and walk away from the table. Say to yourself, "Anything I eat beyond this point will add to the overload and go to fat." Lean against your backbone. Tomorrow, we'll pass along an exercise tip.

First Woman Named To Council At Kenton

KENTON, Ohio (AP)—The city of Kenton, which has its first woman mayor, Helen Saulsberry, now has its first woman member of council, Mrs. Helen Mayberry. Mayor Saulsberry appointed Mrs. Mayberry to the unexpired term of Dr. Henri Kerns, who resigned. She will serve until new councilmen are elected in November. Swearing in ceremonies for the new councilwoman are set for Aug. 5.

PAST AND PRESENT. An ox-drawn cart precedes a highway construction tractor as work nears completion on a road near the Mekong River not far from the Thailand border. This dramatic presentation of the old and new—tractor and ox cart—shows how a country can benefit from western technology and raise the standard of living.

Thruston Morton Looms As An Early Dark Horse

By VICTOR WILSON

WASHINGTON — Thruston Ballard Morton may not be the earliest dark horse in American political history as a presidential nominee. But he's certainly right up there with the front-runners.

For weeks now, the affable junior Republican senator from Kentucky has been touted as a compromise candidate in the event New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater fight each other to a dead heat.

Since the party's nominating convention at San Francisco is still a year away, this is pretty early dark horse-ing, to mangle a phrase. But according to some professionals, who prefer anonymity, there's more to this than mere idle conversation before the big race.

For one thing they point out, the Eastern wing of the Republican party would be smart indeed to start plugging early for a liberal and internationalist compromise nominee if needed.

No harm would be done if the Easterners should put their chosen candidate across. But, if a deadlock develops, they would have in Sen. Morton a dependable, and perhaps as important, an already build-up substitute, to offer.

FOR ANOTHER thing, these political pros say, even if Sen. Morton isn't needed in a dark horse role, he just might come in very handy as the second place man for the party's ticket, regardless who wins the top spot.

And what does Sen. Morton say about all this? Well, the other day he was asked: "How dark a horse are you?" His reply: "Just about midnight."

Nevertheless, it could be a tactical error to accept his own evaluation of his chances. For after all, the senator has been pointed out as excellent presidential material by some very important persons, ranging from former President Eisenhower to Rep. Robert A. Taft, Jr., R. Ohio.

The latter may very well, one day, assume his late father's mantle as "Mr. Republican."

Rep. Taft said last week that of all Republicans mentioned for the party's nomination, Sen. Morton more nearly meets the party's image stated in its last presidential platform. Rep. Taft should know. For he helped write the platform at Chicago in 1960.

Sen. Morton has been in and out of the national consciousness since 1946, when he was first elected to the House of Representatives from Kentucky's Jefferson County (Louisville). But even this politically vibrant capital, not too much is remembered (or known) about his background.

ONE REASON may be that Sen. Morton isn't the flamboyant type, either privately or while on the Senate floor. He shines best, it's said, at small gatherings, where his dialect stories frequently turn out to be the hit of the party.

A seventh generation Kentuckian, Sen. Morton was born in Louisville, Aug. 19, 1907. There was old, old money in quantity in the family, stemming from Ballard & Ballard, a venerable Louisville grain and milling concern. His mother was a Ballard. The young Morton attended Louisville's public schools, spent four years at exclusive Woodberry Forest School, Orange, Va., then went to Yale, where he starred on the rowing team. He received an AB in 1925, returned to Louisville, and held various positions at Ballard & Ballard, winding up as board chairman.

He served three terms in the House as a "modern Republican," but decided not to run again in 1952, reputedly because he considered those who, the year before, had captured the State's Republican party apparatus, as too right-wing.

Instead, he campaigned for General of the Army Eisenhower for the presidency, and John Sherman Cooper as his State's Republican candidate for the Senate. The latter won, too.

In '58 President Eisenhower named Mr. Morton an assistant secretary of state for congressional relations, where he served until 1956.

IN THE FALL of that year he ran for the Senate, beating out

Kentucky's incumbent Democratic senator, Earle C. Clements, by an extremely narrow margin. Sen. Morton's colleague have called him "landslide Morton" since that slim victory. He was reelected in '62.

In both House and Senate, the Kentuckian was usually found on the Liberal side of the fence. Some Morton votes: for abolition of the poll tax; against cutting foreign aid; for continuance of federal rent controls, extra funds for the Tennessee Valley Authority and for a Federal Fair Employment Practices Commission.

During Gen. Eisenhower's years, Sen. Morton ran up an estimated 94 per cent pro-Eisenhower voting record.

That's probably why the latter was pleased when it was decided in 1959 that Sen. Morton would double in brass as both senator and chairman of the Republican National Committee, where he remained until 1961. (His contacts with Republican leaders from coast to coast will do him no harm as a dark horse).

Six feet, two inches tall, weighing 193 pounds, with blue eyes, a ready smile, and equally ready quip, Sen. Morton had an excellent World War II record (Minesweepers and destroyers with the Navy).

BACK IN '58, he demonstrated another sort of courage when the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy was riding high. He had this to say publicly:

"There are some patriotic Americans so disturbed by the menace of communism that they are beginning to wonder whether it would not be better to chip off a little liberty to preserve the basic fundamentals of democracy. I share their concern about communism, but not their willingness to allow the chipping away of any of our liberties. The fact is that you cannot chip any part of the structure of liberty without beginning to destroy the whole structure."

Sen. Morton has one Senate pet hobby (or maybe it's a gag). Anyway, he says he wants to make plain grass the American flower. The reason: "Let us look at the cow. Where would the cow be, and further, where would mankind be, but for grass? We are a meat-eating people. How could we satisfy our national hunger for meat if it were not for grass?"

Handball, which originated in Ireland during the 10th century, is sometimes called "the granddaddy of all ball games."

Hearing Set Tuesday In Assault At Guilford

LISBON — A hearing is scheduled Tuesday at 2 p. m. before County Judge James L. MacDonald for David Paolino, 23, formerly of N. Market St., accused of assault with a deadly weapon in connection with an alleged fight June 29 at Guilford Lake.

Paolino was arrested July 1 in East Liverpool on charges filed by George Batcha of West Point, who alleged he was cut and beaten outside a tavern at Mark's Landing.

Batcha said two men assaulted him, but he did not know the name of the other. Eight stitches were required to close a laceration above his right eye and a small cut on his chest. He also suffered bruised ribs and two black eyes, authorities said.

Wetzel Due At Session

LISBON — State Rep. Clarence L. (Dutch) Wetzel, newly appointed member of the Ohio Civil War Centennial Commission, will attend his first meeting of the group Thursday noon at the University Club in Columbus. Wetzel's appointment was announced about a week ago by Roger Cloud, speaker of the Ohio House of Representatives.

Ohio Group Eyes Governors' Vote For Meeting Site

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio and the Buckeye administrative, legislative, civic and business delegation with him get the word they've been waiting for today.

It's whether the 1964 National Governors' Conference will be held in Cleveland.

The move in behalf of the Lake Erie metropolis is the one thing Rhodes has plugged strenuously during the current governors' conference — besides his and his aides' extracurricular efforts at wooing Florida industry to Ohio.

Announcement of next year's site comes from the conference's executive committee.

Rhodes, sticking with his Republican counterparts on the civil rights issue which has hogged the spotlight at the governors' get-together, termed action on the subject Tuesday a victory for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

The conference heard five-minute discussions from a score of governors at a session devoted to the civil rights matter. Then the chief executives instructed their executive committee to give top priority to study of civil rights. The study will be conducted during the coming year.

The decision, Rhodes said, "is similar to the resolution he (Rockefeller) introduced. Instead of a special committee, he got the executive committee to work on the matter. It's a victory for the original resolution."

Rhodes voted with other Republicans in a losing cause (27-18) on a move to suspend the rules and introduce what the Ohioan called "a meaningful civil rights resolution."

The three independent states of Cambodia, Laos, and Viet Nam were formed from the former French possession of Indo-China.

Telstar Termed
Free Enterprise

The Telstar satellites spinning through space present initiative by free enterprise to help bring better communications to the world through experiments, Donald U. Honicky of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. told the Rotary Club Tuesday in the Travelers Hotel.

Narrating a color slide program of the Bell system's exploring of new voiceways in space, the commercial manager of the East Liverpool office said Bell has made great strides forward in the quest of improved overseas communications with the launching of 170-pound Telstar I in July 1962 and Telstar II in May.

HONICKY explained the principal purpose of Project Telstar is to test the actual use and reliability of active satellites for the transmission of broadband microwave radio signals.

He pointed out that transoceanic telephone circuits are overcrowded and cannot handle the present load. Five million conversations were carried on 700 circuits last year, and by 1980 the conversations with points abroad will reach 100 million, Honicky added.

Honicky described the satellites as small and compact, equipped with an antenna for tracking signals for "on" and "off," 3,600 solar cells to convert the sun's rays to power, measuring devices to record radiation damage, and equipment for receiving and sending signals.

HONICKY SAID the Telstar satellites are spinning at 177 revolutions per minute. Telstar I is traveling at 16,500 mph., and its counterpart moves at 19,500 miles around the globe in orbit. On the skin or exterior of the spheres are reflectors which help engineers determine the angle of Telstar's axis in space by their flashes.

Honicky said both satellites are now out of transmitting order, but attempts will be made to "revive" Telstar II, which went out of commission Thursday between South Africa and Australia.

Only 34 inches across, the tiny spheres contain 15,000 components packed in foam insulation for protection against shock on their launchings atop NASA missiles.

AMONG THE most important are tiny transistors developed by Bell engineers in 1954, bringing a Nobel Prize in science. The solar cells, developed originally for use in providing power to telephone systems in rural Georgia, are made of silicon with helium and arsenic. The special transistors transmit 115 items of data simultaneously, Honicky explained.

Slides were screened of the huge "space hill" at Andover, Maine, where Bell has built engineering tracking equipment of astonishing proportions.

The Bell engineers designed a 177-foot-long, 94-foot-high horn antenna to send a powerful continuous signal to the satellite in space, and receive comparatively weak signals coming back to earth. The antenna is housed in a radome, the largest inflated shelter ever built, Honicky said.

HONICKY, ASSISTANT sergeant-at-arms in the club, was introduced by Ralph A. Finley, president, Raymond L. Clendenning, program chairman, was unable to attend.

Finley announced that William B. Cooper, Honicky and Frank C. Dawson have been named to the sports committee for the annual club picnic Aug. 27 at the YMCA Camp at Pine Ridge.

Has Bell Finally Told For Lloyd's Of London?

Is Lloyd's outmoded?

Entries in the Loss Book still are made with a quill pen. The man who looks after the library is a "waiter," by virtue of the fact that Lloyd's was founded in a coffeehouse in about 1689. The liability of members under a Lloyd's policy remains unlimited as though Lloyd's had never heard of the Companies Act which established limited liability.

It's as if the calendar were perpetually set in the 18th century. But Lloyd's is a market place, and no free market can be far out of touch with contemporary life.

Although the statutory returns shed only a dim light on Lloyd's activities, figures do at least show a few tendencies.

The number of underwriting members, or "names," in 1913 was 631. In 1953 it was 3,603, and now is 5,351. Between 1949 and 1961 net premium income doubled, rising to 320 million pounds ($896 million) in 1961. It was in 1948 that marine and aviation premiums last exceeded non marine premiums. Since then, while marine premiums have doubled, aviation and non-marine premiums have quadrupled.

Underwriting membership is well spread over the property classes. The list includes five dukes, eight marquesses, 39 earls and 26 viscounts constituting together a fifth of the higher degrees of the peerage. There are 52 members of parliament overwhelmingly Tory in political complexion.

ALL THESE men are willing to risk their personal fortunes, under the system of unlimited liability. It is true that they are seldom called on to provide more money than their deposits, though unsuccessful syndicates are not entirely unknown.

The problems facing Lloyd's today are intensifying. Perhaps the biggest is that of foreign control legislation motivated partly by a desire to protect domestic insurance markets against free competition.

Much as foreigners want to place their insurance business in the cheapest market, their government make it increasingly difficult for them to do so.

The complex American market is perhaps the best example. Lloyd's as such is not licensed to transact insurance in most states of the Union, though 30 years ago it obtained acceptance in Illinois by making deposits there. The rumbling discontent of American insurers at competition from the unlicensed Lloyd's which in most states of the Union is not subject to statutory approval of rates and policy forms, erupts periodically.

ONE AMERICAN writer has pointed out the desirability of a flexible market, such as Lloyd's, with full liberty to experiment in new classes of risk.

When a large enough class of insurance is established, it is the practice for the domestic insurers to take over, leaving Lloyd's to provide reinsurance only, as happened with jewelers or "all risks" policies.

It seems probable the U.S. will recognize the utility of Lloyd's to its own market when Congress is asked to license the operations of foreign insurers under legislation proposed by Sen. Thomas Dodd.

It is contemplated that licenses for alien insurers should be issued by the secretary of commerce, but that the legislation should not extend federal authority to the regulation of rates or policy forms.

Licenses will be subject to proof of financial stability, but this should not present any problem to Lloyd's, which already has deposited $300 million in a trust fund as guarantee for the fulfillment of obligations of Lloyd's underwriters to United States policy holders.

LIFE INSURANCE is not issued at Lloyd's aside from a little short-term business. Long term policies cannot be transacted conveniently by syndicates of individuals many of whom may well die before the policyholder.

For marine insurers the main current problem is that of competition. Growing attempts are being made in the common markets countries and in the United States to establish large marine insurance markets and competition is already leading to further rate cuts. In the aviation market insurers have to meet threats of self-insurance by large airlines.

It's in the rest of the non-marine field that Lloyd's in its present form is likely to encounter most difficulty in the next few years. The flow of good American business is likely to slacken as the American domestic market expands. In the home market the last few years have seen growing competition for fire business.

At the same time, company mergers are strengthening the hands of the large company groups in competition. By means of their reinsurance treaties companies are able to accept larger lines.

The great virtue claimed for Lloyd's is its flexibility. The problem is how to combine that flexibility with growth.

The larger Lloyd's brokers with, say, six or seven hundred employees, and a profitable underwriting agency business, can offer shares to the public. Smaller firms may be advised that they are not large enough for this purpose. So amalgamations take place.

The question is whether, despite pressure towards greater concentration, Lloyd's can retain its unique advantages. Lloyd's men themselves have few misgivings.

Vandal Damages
Car Windshields

The windshields of three autos were damaged and a vent window in another was broken in vandalism Monday night or early Tuesday at an East End used car lot, the company reported to police yesterday afternoon.

The damage was reported at the used car lot of Arb Motors, 1340 Pennsylvania Ave., operated by Howard Arb.

Two BB pellets were fired into each of three car windshields—two 1958 models and a 1959 car, police said. The vent window was broken in a 1955 model.

Police said the damage apparently took place between 10 p.m. Monday and 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

'I've Never Sat In My Life'

The first rule for warming up a TV studio audience and keeping it warm — according to Johnny Olsen, a wise-looking owl who warms up six of 'em a day some days — is "Don't Take the Edge Off the Show!"

"On a lot of game shows," says Olsen, "the warmup man plays the game with the audience before air time. This fills the time for men who don't want to work, but it kills the show. What finally comes on the air is less fun than the game as it was played in the warmup."

"YOU DON'T want to be too funny and overpower the show. A warmup man has to caution himself continually. Some announcers try to be comedians in the warmup and sell themselves. Our job is to sell the star and the show."

RULE 2: "Keep the Star Out of the Warmup!"

"Introducing the star before-hand takes the kick away. The excitement's gone. I had to talk Gleason into staying off; and he gets more reaction now. (One day this season, by the way, I had to fly to Florida just to warm up an audience for the taping of a 10-minute segment that was spliced into the Gleason show.)

"On 'To Tell the Truth,' we bring the panel on quickly in a lump so they can be seated at air time, but there are no introductions until later."

On 'The Keefe Brasselle Show,' it's a mess. Because it's a studio rather than theater setup, the performers have to go through the audience. Awful."

RULE 3: "Don't Exhaust an Audience!"

"Because of the number of shows and the diminishing of the glamour that surrounds them, audiences are cooling. They're a little awe-stricken still, but hardly knocked over, and that makes it tougher for us."

"The weather can be against you some days, too—or world conditions, or the market. When you've got a dead audience on your hands, after you've given them the works, all you can do is come on again during the first commercial and jazz them up as best you can.

"On the Brasselle show, some directors make the performers do a bit over and over. On every stop-lapse, we've got to come out and keep the audience warm and energetic. But we've got to be careful we don't exhaust them or they're gone forever."

RULE 4: "Get Rid of the Clutter!"

"In radio, there were few physical distractions — no cue cards, cameramen or generally extraneous people. On the TV shows I've worked, the first thing I've said is, 'Clear 'em all out!' We've just got to give the audience a view, or they'll get in the wrong frame of mind."

"I tell my audiences: 'If you can't see what's going on at any point, watch me. When I laugh, you laugh.'"

"They do. Sometimes they don't know they should laugh. But then they look at me and do. They figure, 'He's enjoying it so much, it must be funny.'"

RULE 5: "Make the Star World Close to the Audience!"

"On the Brasselle show, Rocky Graziano was doing something 75 feet away from the audience, and anyone without 20-20 vision wouldn't have known what was going on. I had them move him down from."

"I got Gleason to work close, too, without disappearing from the view of the balcony folks. If people can't see you, they're not going to laugh, that's for sure!"

RULE 6: "Be Courteous to an Audience!"

"Some performers are a bit rude to a studio audience and make enemies. You'd be surprised how far a nice 'Thanks' and 'good night!' will go."

RULE 7: "But Don't Overdo It!"

"You don't want an audience to feel it's doing you a big favor. These people who tell them, 'We couldn't have done the show without you' or 'You know how hard it is to get an audience these days; are doing damage. Tell them, 'You've been a big part of the show tonight!' and you've said it all."

of all to Johnny Olsen is: "Keep On Your Toes!"

"I hate to see an announcer sit down," he says. "When the show starts, some of these guys go off into a corner and pick up a book. Well, I suppose they've always wanted to be an emcee and never got there. Why, I've never sat in my life!"

Bringing Up A Family.

By GARRY C. MEYERS

College Students Face Many Problems

The high school graduate wishing to enter college faces two problems: 1. To win entrance to the college of his choice or even to any college.

2. To stay in college and graduate. For instance, his academic grades, together with his achievement on entrance tests, are foremost in determining his Dr. Garry Meyers acceptance.

But no matter how discriminating the entrance process, some errors may occur, especially when the high school records are misleading or when considerable weight is given to athletic or musical talents or alumni status. As a result, a few students may enter unready for college and become good candidates for "busting out" in the freshman or sophomore year.

THEN, regardless of the degree of academic readiness, the youth entering college may fail to survive through family pressures, social distractions, immaturity or lack of responsibility and self-discipline.

Some of the brightest students entering college were accustomed to close supervision while at home attending high school. Their parents and certain teachers and counselors kept after them, seeing that they did their homework and completed their assignments on time.

At college, almost wholly on their own, they may easily drift into neglect of systematic out-of-class reading and studying. They may easily become procrastinators. Lack of maturity and personal responsibility spells failure for many a college student.

On his or her own at college, the student may be tempted to overindulge in social activities and overweigh the opportunities for winning attention in what seems to be leadership experience, in fraternity or sororities, residence halls, campus politics.

THESE MAY be the matters he most often writes home about and his parents may encourage him in such "all-around education."

Remembering the good grades he earned in high school, the parents may assume he is doing likewise at college, or, if not, that he will easily make up the arrears.

They and their son or daughter may feel sure that everything will turn out well until there comes the tragic letter stating that, because of low academic standing, he or she cannot return to college next fall.

You parents of young children, hoping they will finish college by and by, need to begin now to think of ways of cultivating in them habits of self-reliance and responsibility and other qualities of character that may make this achievement possible, assuming they have the necessary native mental ability.

My bulletins, "Self-Reliance" and "Educating Your Child In Responsibility", may be secured by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Prior Servicemen

May Enter Air Force

T.Sgt. James A. Lee, area Air Force recruiter, said today a new prior-service program now in effect offers opportunities to many persons who have had previous military training.

The new regulation has expanded the Air Force "needed skill list" to 162 job specialties. Herebefore, many otherwise eligible persons were barred from enlistment because their skills were not on the "needed list", which consisted mostly of highly technical and specialized jobs.

The new list includes a requirement for men in such fields as communications, radio- radar systems, guided missile systems, atomic weapons, wire maintenance, aircraft accessories maintenance, construction, utilities, administration, personnel, finance accounting and auditing, statistical services, dental and medical.

Details may be obtained by calling Sgt. Lee at FU. 6-6181 or by visiting his office at the City Hall in East Liverpool.

Wellsville Man Given New Trial In Burglary

A Wellsville man's conviction by a jury was vacated and another trial ordered by Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard Tuesday.

John R. Reed, 32, was indicted by the April Grand Jury for burglary in the daytime of the Super-Food Store in Wellsville. He pleaded not guilty at arraignment but was convicted June 4 after a trial.

On June 21, Judge Buzzard heard a motion for a new trial on grounds the state did not prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the offense was committed in the day season as charged. He took it under advisement.

Yesterday, the court ruled that the verdict was not sustained by sufficient evidence, upholding the question of reasonable doubt, and a new trial was granted.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

Dear Gals: Have you ever taken a look at the shelves under your kitchen sink, cabinet, drainboards and stove?

Wow!

A mess, eh? Well, let's take a few minutes off today and see what's wrong. I know you have been keeping house for years and it's hard to change, but after my 43rd birthday . . . I found the answer to those way-down-low shelves.

Rearrange them! As we get older (and I wonder why I didn't discover this when I had those two young babies, and my back was tired all the time), we see the energy we waste.

When we reach UP for something it takes lots less energy than it does to reach DOWN! Know that? It's true!

So why do we do it? Habit. Habit! That's all.

Take a morning off and take everything out of all those bottom cabinets and put all those pots and pans and conglomeration from under the sink on your kitchen floor.

THEN STAND back and look at all that junk!

You will die laughing. . . .

Here's a pan that you never use but just hate to part with because you have had it so long. Why keep it? It just clutters up your cabinet and makes it harder to find the things you do use.

You don't need 15 pans (and this is average!). You don't have 15 burners in your home to cook on! Ever stop to think of that?

Here's the secret.

If you are one who can't bear to throw things away . . . at least divide it! Put things you haven't used for a year in one pile, and set this aside.

(Later, put them in the attic or garage and if you don't use them in a year . . . chances are you never will . . . you can discard them.) Don't put these things back in your cabinet.

I like to line my shelves underneath the cabinets with foil. It reflects light. When we put a damp pan on foil and it makes a water spot, it can be easily wiped up with a sponge. It's clean and sanitary.

NOW TAKE some antiseptic and make a solution with some water (read the directions carefully on the bottle) and wash the inside of all your cabinets thoroughly. (It's supposed to be a proven fact that a roach or bug will not walk across this.)

If you do have roaches, now is the time to paint some bug juice on the cabinets. It's easy. They are empty and you can do it twice as fast. Besides, no use to do one cabinet at a time.

When a roach sees one cabinet fumigated, she just runs across the way to the next one and has her babies there!

The shelves (especially if they are made of wood) should be first lined with waxed paper. This keeps the foil or shelf paper from sticking to the paint. THEN put your foil over this.

I always place two or three pieces of paper, one on top of the other, when lining shelves.

This way, when the top paper gets soiled, all I have to do is push the articles to one side, rolling up the soiled paper a little at a time and replacing the articles onto the clean paper.

CONTINUE ACROSS the shelf, rolling back the paper a little at a time (and replacing the articles) until the entire soiled top paper has been replaced.

By using this method, you will save yourself many hours next time you have to clean your shelves.

I also found, when lining shelves, (especially those which contain canned goods and pots and pans) that if you will put a newspaper under the foil that it will give a "cushion" effect and the foil lasts longer.

Those of you who can't afford foil can use newspaper. It's cheap. In fact . . . free . . . as you have already paid for it!

Wall paper is quite inexpensive, too. Especially if you buy

"broken rolls" at your store. These are discontinued patterns put on sale when there's not enough to "do" a room, etc.

Some women have written that they use bath mats, linoleum, or oilcloth.

Now let's start to replace our pans.

First, use the "hidden" space in the back of the cabinets for those odd pans seldom used.

In front of those put all the other pans you use once a week or so.

THEN PICK UP the ones you use most frequently. These will probably be a favorite skillet, a big sauce pan and two small ones.

Put one inside the other. . . and put THESE at the most convenient place in your cabinet. This will be at the front nearest the door of your stove.

It takes three, and never more than four, pans to cook a meal (remember, you don't have more than four burners and can't possibly use more), so keep this stack light.

Next we will tell you about the cupboard under your sink which holds all those dangerous items . . . watch for it. Try to adapt yourself to new ideas. If we didn't we would still be boiling our clothes over a wood fire!

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What can I do if I've gotten too much bluing in some of my laundry?

A. You can rinse out the blue's in clear water to which you've added a little vinegar.

Q. How can I remove burned bacon drippings from my oven?

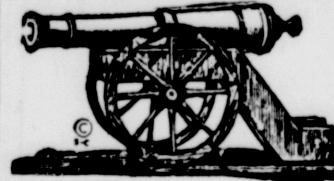

A. Turn off the pilot light, place a bowl of ammonia inside the oven, and close the door. The ammonia fumes will loosen the charred drippings and make the oven easy to clean.

Q. What can I do when the adhesive on an envelope flap or a postage stamp doesn't stick?

A. Try a quick application of fingernail polish. Dries quickly, leaves no smudge — and can't even be steamed open!

Q. What can I do when the white of egg refuses to beat stiff?

A. Add a teaspoonful of cold water and a pinch of salt. Adding a pinch of baking powder while beating will also help, will make it more fluffy, and will prevent its falling if it must stand for any length of time after beating.
